Fogies, Grade Pay May Merge

Date Set For Rifle Delivery

WASHINGTON. — The Army will begin to equip its pentomic divisions with the new M60 machine gun and the M14 and M15 rifles in about 18 months, if present production plans are approved by Congress, the Bureau of the Budget and the Defense Department.

An Army Ordnance spokesman said that production of the new machine gun would begin at Springfield Arsenal before the end of this year. In the spring of 1959 M14 production will begin at the arsenal. The Army is already producing the NATO cartridge fired by the new small arms.

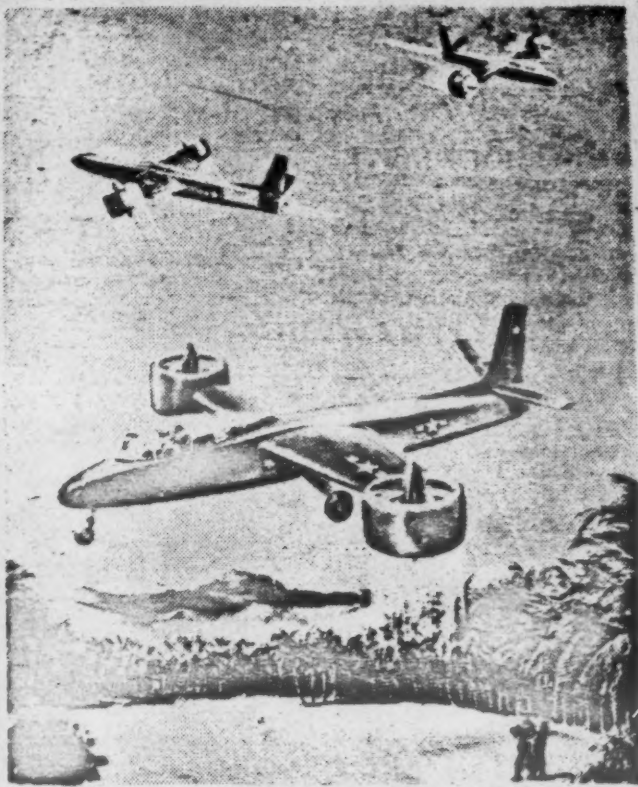

Springfield Arsenal production of both the machine gun and the rifles will be on a pilot line basis. By the end of 1958, Army Ordnance hopes to have let a contract to a commercial producer for the M60, which will replace the 1916 and 1919 heavy and light .30 caliber machine guns now in use.

In the spring or early summer of 1959, commercial production of the M14 rifle, which will replace the M1, the carbine and the submachine gun, and of the M15, which will replace the BAR, will begin. Arsenal production of the M14 and M15 will start six to nine months ahead of commercial production and will provide weapons to equip two or three divisions before commercial production comes in.

With commercial production, the Army's combat elements will be re-equipped with the lightweight small arms in a two-year period. This would mean that the active Army's combat elements would be outfitted with "modern small arms" by the end of 1961.

There could be a speed-up or a slow-down in this production schedule. The slow-down might develop if the economy efforts of last fall are renewed. The Budget Bureau or Defense might hold 'HELIPLANE' — This new plane, now being ground-tested for the Army by the Doak Aircraft Co. of California, can take off and land vertically like a helicopter but operates in air — or lands or takes off — like conventional craft. Swivel-mounted propellers do the trick, with plane remaining horizontal.

In-Grade Raises Unfair to Some

By JOHN SLINKMAN
(Third in a Series)

THIS WEEK we discuss in-grade versus longevity pay and the changes the Administration made in the Cordiner plan. Last week we compared the Cordiner and present Career Compensation Act rates, and found Cordiner provided some incentives to advance, but not always — not particularly from the top of any grade above E-3 to the next higher grade.

That is one indictment of the in-grade pay proposal. A proper longevity system (Career Comp Act is defective in some areas) provides a positive incentive to advance to any grade from the next lower grade at any stage of a career.

A second criticism of in-grade raises, as Cordiner would apply them, is that they hurt the stymied, but capable, higher-ranking enlisted person.

10th Div. to Reform As 2d at Benning

WASHINGTON. — The 10th Infantry Division, now completing its Gyronope move from Europe to the United States, will be redesignated the 2d Infantry Division shortly after the move is completed at Fort Benning, Ga.

The Army, in announcing the change of designation, said that the 10th Infantry Division designation would be retired. That of the 2d Infantry Division, it said, is "presently on the active list of the Army but is at zero strength."

Some units now a part of the 10th Infantry Division will retain their designations when the "10-

Limited Pro Pay Gets OK

By MONTE BOURJAILY JR.

WASHINGTON — Defense manpower secretary W. H. Francis Jr. has signed a memorandum giving the green light to the services to put into effect, for the next four months, a much reduced proficiency pay program.

Even while he was doing so, the House Armed Services subcommittee headed by Rep. Paul Kilday (D., Tex.), was asking searching questions about proficiency pay which indicated that its members had many and serious reservations about the program.

The complex Francis memorandum told the services to proceed with their plans for FY 1958 (which ends June 30) but to hold up any action on proficiency pay for FY 1959, "pending Congressional action on the proposed military pay legislation."

Army plans for proficiency pay advances (PPA) are up in the air. The memorandum, though dated February 21, had not on February 26 officially reached those responsible for putting the program into effect.

It appeared unlikely that before June 1 all the administrative details could be cleared away that must be before men are actually given a pay advance one grade higher than that in which serving. The Army's original proposal, set up in accordance with Defense Department orders, would have given PPA's to between 14,000 and 16,500 men between January 1 and June 30.

Thus it seems unlikely that more than 2500 to 3000 men will get PPA's this year.

In fact, it is possible that Congressional rejection of the proficiency pay program will result in waste of the thousands of hours work put in on the program since

WASHINGTON — A saved pay clause for enlisted men earning commissioned rank and an in-grade pay step for privates with over four months service and private first class with over two years service were added to the pay bill this week.

Additional in-grade pay steps for corporals and sergeants, as well as higher rates for captains and majors also seemed assured as pay hearings barreled into their second week before the Kilday House Armed Services subcommittee.

Defense started fighting for its bill on two fronts this week as hearings on the measure began in the Senate. Before a subcommittee headed by Sen. John Stennis (D., Miss.). Lead-off witness was Defense Secretary Neil McElroy, who had already given his views to the House group.

Assistant Defense Secretary William H. Francis, boss of the defense task force handling the bill, said that after consultation with the subcommittee staff they were ready to correct "two mistakes" in the bill: the saved pay clause and the step for E-1s. Without the saved pay clause some enlisted men going to officer rank might lose as much as $107 a month in pay. E-1s with over four months service now get $83.80 a month. Under the Defense bill they would only get $78. Francis agreed the $83.50 figure should be retained.

Francis also went along with one more step increase for E-2s when subcommittee counsel John R. Blandford pointed out that there are some 80,000 E-2s with over two years service.

Francis said the services were (See FOGIES, Page 10)

List Coming

WASHINGTON. — Augmentation List No. 6 is expected to go to the Senate within the next two weeks. It will contain the names of roughly 600 officers to be appointed in the Regular Army.

Appointments are to be made in all grades. Additional nominations are expected to be made at a later date.

Brucker Note Aligns Army with Cordiner

WASHINGTON. — The Department of the Army, in a letter to major commanders signed by Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker, has endorsed the "principles of the Cordiner report" without giving endorsement to any of the actual legislative proposals to put them into effect.

The Secretary's command letter, about whose transmittal there was some doubt as this was written, called on major commanders to support the revision of military pay but did not ask them to endorse any specific measure.

Mayflower Expansion Underway

SAN PEDRO, Calif. — A factory expansion program to provide doubled production is underway at Mayflower Trailer Co. while designing and engineering departments have been perfecting the 1958 line.

As a result, Mayflower entered the new year with both an impressive array of new models and a 100 per cent larger plant to produce them.

Just as Mayflower's Torrance factory is larger-sized, increased living space is one of the company's prime themes in the 1958 units.

Mayflower's design engineers and interior decorators have been at work making full utilization of the extra width of the new Ten-Wide Mayflower and Plymouths.

V. C. Johnson, president of Mayflower, attributes a good portion of Mayflower's rapid growth to the enthusiastic public reception of the firm's provincial decor in 1957 models.

Improvements of the popular provincial theme are featured in the 1958 interior decorating. Maple is the motif carried out in the quality furniture and panelled walls.

Huge sliding glass doors are another 1958 innovation and add considerably to the feeling of extra-spaciousness provided in the Mayflower.

Two new Ten-Wide models have been created in Mayflower's low-priced Plymouth line. The new Plymouth 47 is available in two and three-bedroom floor plans with optional front kitchens.

In addition, a 41-foot Ten-Wide one-bedroom Plymouth has been unveiled. Both feature a new "clean sweep" styling. Provincial or contemporary interior decor is optional on all models.

In the quality Mayflower line, Ten-Wides will be available in 35, 40, 45, and 50-foot one-bedroom models, and 45 and 50-foot two-bedroom models.

Mayflower Eight-Wides are offered in 30-foot and 35-foot one-bedroom models and a 40-foot two-bedroom model. Front kitchens are optional on all models except the 35-foot.

YOU'RE ALL SET FOR A LONG HITCH

... with aluminum

Only one metal for mobile home construction guarantees permanent protection against the ravages of rust. That metal is aluminum!

When a metal that will rust is used for the outer skin, galvanizing and other coatings provide only temporary protection. Shearing and drilling expose edges to moisture and the menace of corrosion. And every scratch means another danger point.

Aluminum's resistance to rust is just as deep as the metal is thick. The result is complete elimination of red rust, ugly stains and progressive peeling of paint that mar original beauty. To give you this positive insurance on your investment, many leading mobile home manufacturers build with Alcoa® Aluminum. Alcoa alloys combine corrosion resistance with high strength and light weight to make your mobile

Mobile Homes Called Adaptable for Military

CHICAGO, Ill. — Military personnel have turned to mobile living, the MHMA reports. Mobile Homes are particularly adaptable to military life. They solve the housing problems for career men with constantly shifting duty stations. They keep families together and they are economical.

Congress recognized the growing importance of servicemen's mobile homes when an amendment to the Career Incentive Act of 1955 provided for reimbursement to military personnel for expenses in transporting their wheeled homes from one duty station to another.

One service wife outlined the conveniences of mobile living at an Army post where her husband is a master sergeant. She declared:

"Mobile Home dwellers here enjoy all the services available to suburban home residents. Fuel oil, bottle gas, milk, and the daily paper are delivered to the door. A mobile fruit and vegetable market and a mobile post exchange circulate through the park daily, announcing their arrival by short blasts.

"There is even a linen and diaper service to the door for those desiring it. A free post bus runs through the park hourly and taxi service is available."

WATER, SEWER and electrical connections are installed with military efficiency and maintenance of the area is a joint project between residents and base services.

One large Army reservation in the midwest has 882 spaces occupied in the post trailer park. At the U.S. Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Illinois, three large parks are located in a pleasant wooded area on the base. Thousands of Marine families live in mobile homes at major Marine Corps installations.

Officers are included in the military mobile population. At one military base, commissioned officers total 14 percent of the on-post trailerites. The ranking mobile home owner there is a lieutenant colonel.

Mobile homes are especially useful to GI's stationed in remote and unsettled areas where housing is at a premium. High rent and poor accommodations have converted many service families to mobile living in these locations.

Most mobile home parks on military reservations are self-governed with a committee of residents responsible for appearance of the area and the conduct of its tenants.

Here is what one said on this subject:

"Pride of ownership is much in evidence among the mobilehome owners at our post. In addition to keeping their trailers in tip-top condition, they build porches, erect attractive fences, and take much interest in their yards. Fill dirt, grass seed, and fertilizer are available without cost to any resident who wants to beautify his lawn.

"To encourage beautification, prizes were offered last year for the most attractive yards.

"Many residents have made graveled walks, bordered by stones, set out flowering shrubs, and planted bulbs and flowers. Some even grow small vegetable gardens."

MANY MILITARY trailerites become so enthused with their traveling homes that they take them into retirement with them. One high-ranking Navy officer who completed 34 years in the service immediately bought a mobile home and set out on an 18-month tour of the United States.

Surveys taken by the Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association show that servicemen are buying about 20 percent of the industry output. This trend indicates that the United States military machine has more wheels than any other in the world.

Price Drops On Detroit '58 Models

ROYAL OAK, Mich. — "In announcing drastic price cuts we are basing our prices on a projected increase in yearly sales volume for 1958 as compared to 1957," says Melvin J. Hutchinson, president of Detroit Mobile Homes, St. Louis, Michigan.

Detroit's production and sales for 1957, Mr. Hutchinson continued, were at an all time high. If the same percentage of increase continues it will develop an accelerated production that will mean real savings—and these savings are being passed on to the ultimate buyers at once, which will stimulate more sales and enable Detroit to meet the increased production schedules.

Mr. Hutchinson was emphatic in calling attention to the fact that there has been no lessening of the quality, equipment or construction. In fact, Detroit has added new features—floor length drapes, acoustic tile ceilings in living rooms, larger International furnaces with thermostats and 30" deluxe ranges where practical—plus colored fixtures throughout.

Vagabond Lists Record For Last Quarter of '57

DETROIT, Mich. — Vagabond Coach Manufacturing Company, New Hudson and Brighton, Michigan, announces the largest dollar-wise sales record in the company's history for the last quarter of 1957.

According to Mr. Robert G. Pelkey, Sales Manager, "this outstanding accomplishment can be attributed to many sales factors. However, the introduction of a completely new and different line of popular Vagabonds, at radically lower prices, unquestionably provided the increase in consumer buying."

Other important factors were:

- (1) Greater Dealer - Company sales efforts;
- (2) More efficient production programming;
- (3) Consistent sales promotion and advertising.

Because Vagabond offers top quality mobile homes at popular prices, the upward swing in Vagabond sales appears to continue in 1958.

Richardson Offers New Convert-A-Room Model

ELKHART, Ind.—It's a 2-bedroom mobile home—then in a matter of minutes it's a 1-bedroom model!

That's the new Richardson Convert-A-Room model just introduced to the trade!

A hinged wall with large mirror, knick-knack shelves and writing desk separates the center bedroom from the living room. With the wall in place, it's a 2-bedroom model. Simply swing the wall back and you have a living room over six feet longer! The mirror, incidentally, lifts out so that the opening frames the window of the former bedroom.

It's easy, simple and fast as that!

From the buyer's standpoint, the Convert-A-Room offers the ideal solution of what model to buy. The room arrangements can be changed as the size of the family increases or decreases—without having to buy a new mobile home. And they'll profit from the high re-sale value if they want to trade-in or sell anytime.

Furthermore, the flexibility of the Convert-A-Room permits larger group entertainment without having to shift the living room furniture to make room for dancing or card parties. Also, the center bedroom can be used as a den or television room, or furnished with a sofa which converts into a bed for overnight guests.

There's never been anything like it in the industry. You choose from 8 different models—38' Front Kitchen, 8' and 10' wide, and 42' and 50' Balcony Kitchen models in both 8' and 10' wide.

Full information on the Convert-A-Room and name of your nearest Richardson dealer may be obtained by writing Richardson Homes Corporation, Dept. AT, Elkhart, Indiana.

Eaz-Lift's Axle Hitch Wins Favor, Firm Says

GLENDAL, Calif.—The semi load-equalizing axle hitch introduced recently by EAZ-LIFT as a companion product of their other nationally-famous models, is filling a long-wanted need, according to Jack Curtis, General Sales Manager of the Eaz-Lift Spring Corporation, Sun Valley, Calif.

This semi load-equalizing coupler is not a "run of the mill" axle hitch because connecting the housing to the car body by means of two adjustable hangar arms accomplishes a semiload-equalizing action.

Unlike a straight axle hitch, it throws the weight on the mobile-home wheels in a predetermined ratio to the amount left on the rear axle of your car.

The semi load-equalizing coupler produces a fulcrum action with the result that a portion of the weight is also thrown to the front wheels. Further, the weight of materials and passengers inside of the car are supported off the car springs by the two hangar arms.

The weight throwback to the mobilehome wheels is made by the familiar Eaz-Lift chains which pull the springs that yield to irregularities of the road.

Another feature of this Eaz-Lift development is that the hitch arm spread underneath the car and the actual weight that goes on the axle is placed next to the springs. This model also has a choice of adjustments and can be bolted to the car, removed, and placed on another car. No welding is necessary and overload springs are not required.

MANY ADDITIONS have been made at the St. Louis, Mich., factory which produces units of the Detroit Mobile Homes Co. Both the plant and the firm's offices have been expanded to meet increased production schedules for the 38 models of Detroit Custom DeLuxe Urbans, available in eight and ten-wides, and the new line of Pontiac Chief Custom DeLuxe ten-wides.

A BUILT-IN Hi-Fi in Owosso Coach's 46-foot convertible proved an intriguing feature to visitors Shirley Woodell and son Bernie. Horace Wright, vice-president and secretary of Owosso Coach Co. explains how the unit works and points out other features.

FRONT KITCHENS, becoming more popular every day, have been incorporated into Marlette Mobile Homes. Mrs. Dorothy Nidel looks over the built-in oven in one of the firm's attractive and modern kitchens. This Marlette Mobile Home has two bedrooms, a full bath, a living room and a dining area.

A SOLARIUM living room, with glass on three sides, is one of the varied features of this Mobile Home by Peerless. Mrs. Fred Gonyea and Mrs. Gordon Myers of Gonyea Mobile Homes, Syracuse, N.Y., watch television in the living room of the 47-foot, ten-wide.

LOOKING OVER the living room of this Anderson Coach two-bedroom, ten-wide model are Mr. and Mrs. George Elver of Elvers Mobile Homes, Madison, Wis. J. E. Jenson, president of Anderson Coach points out interesting features.

Scenes at the 1958 Louisville Mobile Homes Show

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—More than $1,500,000 worth of housing was on display under one roof at the 22d Annual Mobile Home Show at the Kentucky Fair & Exposition Center here.

Sponsored by the Mobile Home Manufacturers Association, the world's largest indoor trade exhibition displayed more than 300 1958-model mobile homes, ranging from small vacation models to luxurious models which are 10-feet wide and 60 feet in length.

The MHMA Show was the largest to use the new Exposition Center. Edward L. Wilson, managing director of MHMA, said about 16,000 people visited the show during its six-day stay. All of the mobile home exhibits, and more than 200 exhibits of supplier members of the Association were housed on the main floor.

The first four days of the show were reserved for dealers.

Two days before the MHMA show opened, the Mobile Homes Dealers National Association held its annual meeting at the Exposition Center.

Myron C. Poole, Ventoura Corp., Elwood, Ind., and Ron Funkhouser, Macomba Engineering, Cyprus, Calif., were co-chairmen of the MHMA show committee.

The job of moving the mobile homes in the Exposition Center required three days according to Poole.

The mobile home industry expects 1957 sales to equal the record 576 million reached in 1956, according to Robert McMackin, president of MHMA. "Incomplete figures for 1957 indicate that nearly 140,000 units were sold."

This was the first time that Mobile Home Manufacturers Association and Mobilehome Dealers National Association members have held their shows and meeting at the same location. Officials credited this with helping to produce the record turnout.

The conferees were told that mobile homes are more than "houses." They serve many special uses and are often modified or specially built to meet the needs of government or industry.

One example cited was that of the use of air-conditioned trailers to house atomic scientists conducting atomic tests in the desert at Yucca Flats, Nev. Some 240 units were rolled onto the desert.

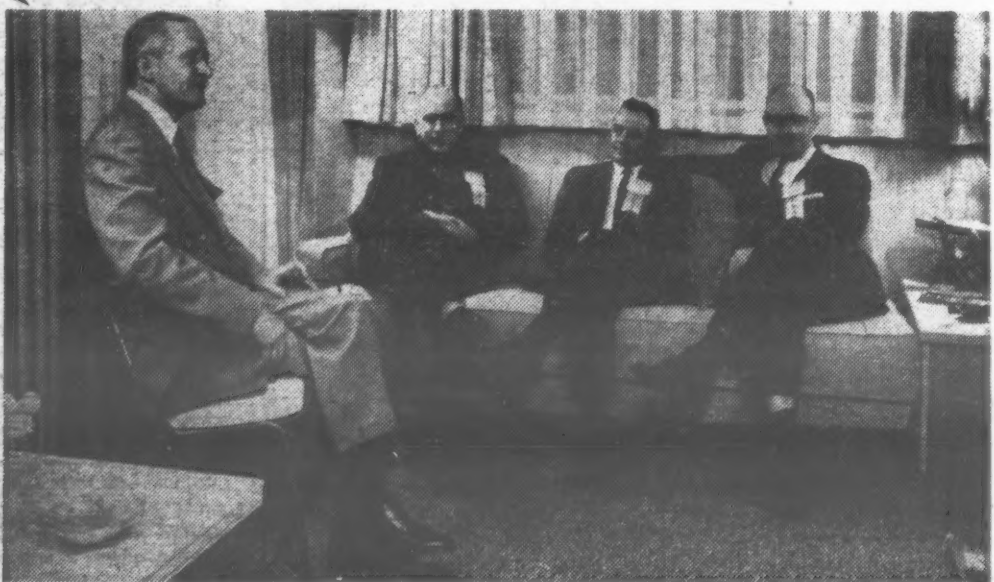

MANY EXCITING features were found throughout the mobile home line by Alice Mawdsley of Louisville, Ky., who is shown here standing at the door of a Ventoura 50-foot, ten-wide. The Ventoura home features Revolve bay windows which are drawn in while on the highway and which become bay windows when the unit is parked.

INSPECTING the interior of a two-story, three-bedroom Stewart Mobile Home are Bill and Lynda West of Uniontown, Pa. The youngsters, who have always lived in mobile homes, are the children of the owners of West Mobile Homes.

THE NEW Convert-A-Room is demonstrated by R. E. Richardson, executive vice-president of Richardson Homes Corp., for DeWitt Hobbs and his son, DeWitt, of Eastern Trailer Sales, Norfolk, Va.

MEETING IN THE "Sunshine Special" living room of a 35-foot, ten-wide mobile home are Norman Wolfe, president of American Coach, and Gene Gubser, Tulsa Trailer Homes; Max Wilcox, R-K Trailer Sales Co., Topeka, Kans.; and Robert Keatley, R-K Trailer Sales, St. Joseph, Mo.

SPECIAL ATTENTION has been paid to making the kitchens of Herrli Peninsular mobile homes attractive, and functional. A private dinette area has been created by placing a built-in range at right angles to the sink area. Also used was a wall-hung refrigerator with a 70-pound freezing compartment, which is optional equipment. Walnut cabinets and brass hardware complement the modern setting. An abundance of drawer and storage space is provided in each kitchen.

'Pontiac Chief' Returns As New Detroit Model

ST. LOUIS, Mich.—The Pontiac Chief was known as one of America's finest mobile homes. It was designed and built by Les Hutchinson and attained a position of leadership.

However, after Hutchinson's death, production was stopped, and one of the truly great mobile homes was gone from dealers lots.

Now the Pontiac Chief is back. Some time ago, Detroit Mobile Homes, of St. Louis, Mich., purchased the Pontiac Coach Co. in Drayton Plains and the Pontiac Chief name.

Ever since, Melvin J. Hutchinson, president of Detroit Mobile Homes, has dreamed of putting a new and finer Pontiac Chief back into its design.

The acceptance of the new Pontiac Chief when first displayed at the Louisville Show was tremendous.

Trailer Court Near Alexandria Completes Modernization Plan

ALEXANDRIA, Va.—Oak Grove Trailer Court, five miles south of historic Alexandria at 3301 Richmond Highway, has enlarged and beautified its modern park in the Washington-Virginia area. American Trailer Co., Inc., of Washington, owner and operator of the

The Company and the Park Manager, F. C. MacSorley, started a reconstruction program last year. Before long, the thickly wooded section in the rear of the park's ninety spaces was giving way to heavy bulldozers and leveling equipment.

Now, after one of Washington's worst winters, Oak Grove is completed. There are 170 spaces, all with underground city sewage, water and electrical supply, and regular garbage and trash collection. Modern concrete patios have been added to the remodeled lots, and to the new ones. Most of the spaces at the park are large enough to accommodate the largest mobile home manufactured.

The administration building which houses the Park Office also has a private mail box for most residents. Public transportation and school buses are available at the entrance of the Court. Since Oak Grove is a family park, children are welcomed and provided with swings, sandboxes, horizontal bars and other outside gym and playground equipment.

NOW THAT major construction is finished, "American" will soon plant grass, flowering bushes and natural shrub dividers throughout the park. Wide asphalt roads, private parking and strictly enforced speed regulations are other features.

An unusual feature offered to residents is a centralized television antenna system.

The modern recreation building is being redecorated and plans are being developed to make this the community center for the many social groups and clubs already active in the Court. A large building in the Park provides residents with laundry and drying facilities. This building also has complete shower and washroom facilities.

The residents of the park also may use the Service Department which has just built a $30,000 service shop equipped to handle any repair job.

For the mobile home enthusiast who is ready to trade for a new model, the display area in front of the Park has about 20 models. "American" plans to remodel a complete new sales office.

The new construction and remodeling has given Oak Grove the facilities for a large and progressive community of congenial residents who take pride in their homes, lots and neighbors.

Management feels that it now has made an additional contribution to provide housing for the military as well as civilians who are interested in mobile home living.

Sales Rise Expected This Year

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Sales of mobile homes in 1957 continued at the record-setting pace established in 1956, despite a general slow-up in standard housing, according to Robert McMackin, president of the Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association.

McMackin expressed his views at the national mobile homes show at the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center. He said indications are the industry will have another record year.

"On the basis of sales for the first 11 months of the year we are confident that we will equal or exceed the 1956 sales of 139,000 units, with a retail sales value of $576-million," he said. "Sales through November were a fraction of a per cent above the comparable 1956 period, and indications are that December sales will hold at last year's level."

"The steady growth in sales of mobile homes in recent years, at the same time that conventional housing has reversed its upward swing, indicates the degree to which they have been accepted as permanent housing by the public. Our greatest period of growth is at a time when there are no 'emergency' reasons for the purchase of a mobile home. Eighty-five to 90 per cent of our sales are to people who plan to live in them for years, and approximately 60 per cent of our sales are to people who have owned a mobile home previously."

SPEAKING at the national show at the Exposition Center, he said:

"From the customer's standpoint, the Louisville show was the finest ever. There is more 'home' in this year's mobile home. Space engineering has created roomier interiors, enhancing the convenience, beauty and comfort every woman demands in her home."

Among new developments in the mobile homes on display here is the appearance of furniture scaled to proportions somewhat smaller than former rather over-sized pieces.

New materials in mobile homes, as decorative as they are durable and easy to clean, are showing up in such places as textured wood cornices over living room windows; sliding doors made of steel to hide bedroom closets when painted to match walls; unusual tile and wall coverings in bathrooms with practical and spacious storage chests adjoining make this room a lavish splash of color and beauty.

Industry Tells 27-Year Spurt

CHICAGO, Ill.—In 27 years, America's mobile home industry has become one of the nation's most prosperous and best known enterprises.

An industry that as late as 1940 was turning out 10,000 units is now producing 139,000 mobile homes annually.

Many reasons have been advanced for the remarkable accomplishments of the mobile home industry. For one thing, the product itself—the mobile home—has been immensely improved.

While it is sometimes pointed out that the industry's upward surge has coincided with a serious shortage of conventional housing, it is nevertheless true that—even as the housing shortage wanes—the demand for mobile homes continues.

Modern Mobile Homes Increase Chance to Enjoy Great Outdoors

CHICAGO, Ill.—For the hunter or fisher, or for the man spending his annual two weeks vacation with his family, there is a new way of traveling and living that is both convenient and inexpensive. Travel trailers, ranging in size from 12 to 24 feet, offer all the comforts of the average cabin with the added feature of mobility. Sleeping from two to six people with ease, they are equipped with stove, refrigerator, lights and water, as well as beds, and the larger models have modern plumbing.

The compact units are easily attached to any automobile and can travel any road that can be negotiated by a car. In addition, they are completely independent of outside connections, and can be parked at any spot where camping is permitted.

Sales of travel trailers have increased rapidly in recent years, and now account for between 5 and 10 percent of the total sales of mobile homes, according to Edward L. Wilson, managing director of the Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association. Sales of mobile homes in 1957 amounted to approximately 139,000 units, including travel trailers.

"These small-sized mobile homes make family vacations possible for many who were unable to take them before," Wilson said. "Those who used to be limited to vacations near home find that they can afford to travel to far-distant places when they can take their holiday cottages with them, and avoid the extra cost of renting a cottage and paying for restaurant meals."

The National Park Service has recognized this trend by making increased mobile home and trailer parking space a part of its long-range improvement plans for the national parks.

ALTHOUGH the small trailer was the origin of the mobile home industry, and accounted for a large percentage of total sales until

World War II, the varied and extensive use to which they are now being put has far surpassed the expectations of the industry pioneers, Wilson said.

One of the major reasons for this is that the manufacturers have incorporated many of the features which at first were found only in the larger mobile homes, and have still kept the price and weight to a minimum.

6 Units Used As Religious Classrooms

CHICAGO, Ill. — The message may be 2000 years old, but in Fort Wayne, Indiana, the methods are ultra modern. Religious education is carried to school children in six mobile homes—equipped with all the modern facilities of a regular school-room.

Two hundred and thirty-one weekday religious classes are held for more than 6300 students under the sponsorship of the Associated Churches of Fort Wayne.

These mobile schools operate on a strict non-profit, non-sectarian basis. The trailers are taken to grade school sites where classes are conducted each morning and afternoon for students in the third, fourth and fifth grades.

Attendance is completely voluntary, with parental consent. The Fort Wayne Community School System cooperates with the program in making necessary arrangements so that those attending religious classes will not lose out on regular lessons.

Originally, public school rooms were used on a rental basis for religious education, but in 1948 the U.S. Supreme Court handed down a decision which forbade such classes where public funds supported the school system.

Associated Churches then used buses for their classes until the special trailers could be built.

The success of the program is indicated by the fact that during the 1956-57 school year religious education classes were attended voluntarily by 95 percent of the students in the three grade classifications, although half of these students said they did not regularly attend a church or church school.

More Financing Funds Available for Trailers

CHICAGO.—Despite tight money markets, mobile home production in 1957 was up and financing continued good, though somewhat tighter in the purchase of bigger trailers, according to William Welsh, financial consultant of the Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association.

"The sustained volume of credit for the purchase of mobile homes in the present tight market indicates the confidence of bankers in this type of loan," Welsh said.

"In the past, 95 percent of the bankers reporting in our annual survey considered mobile home loans 'equal to' or 'better than' auto loans and 96 percent reported no losses in handling this type of paper."

Welsh said that 291 bankers reported their volume of mobile home paper in 1956 was $363,246,151 and the number of bankers handling this type of paper, and the average size of the contracts, was expected to show an increase in 1957.

Welsh said that the main reason for bankers' confidence was the increasing awareness that mobile homes are permanent homes for most purchasers.

"As more and more people in financial institutions realize that mobile homes are a permanent way of life for more than three million Americans, many of whom prefer them to standard housing, we believe that the loans will continue to grow," he said.

WORLD'S OLDEST AND LARGEST TRANSPORTERS OF MOBILE HOMES

No Installation Needed
In Monitor 'Jet' Dryer

NEW YORK—A fully automatic clothes dryer which needs no installation or venting is now available from Monitor Equipment Corp. The unit, especially designed for mobile home living, simply plugs into any standard mobile home 110 volt power line.

Louis I. Falzer, general sales manager of Monitor, said "This dryer took years of research and experimentation but we now have a fully automatic clothes dryer in our 'Monitor Jet 99'."

The dryer requires less space than a kitchen chair, the firm said, and it eliminates the need for lint traps... there is no lint problem.

The "Jet 99" is portable and compact. Placed on wheels it can be rolled out of sight when not in use. Complete size is 16"x16"x32". The unit is done in white enamel and contains a utility top.

The dryer is loaded from the top. The drying action floats the clothes in waves of heated air. Capacity of the Monitor dryer is six to eight pounds. Quietness and lack of vibration are among the features claimed by the manufacturer.

The dryer is priced at $109.95 and is made to go with the Monitor Aerator Mobile Home Washer which costs $64.95 and up. The washer features a side-mounted Aerator which cleanses by forcing aerated water through the clothes rather than by beating them. Five pounds can be washed in as many minutes, the maker says, and smaller loads can be handled economically.

For further details on these units, write to Monitor Equipment Corp., Dept. AT, Riverdale-on-Hudson, New York 71, N. Y.

Cha-Cha-Cha Wiggler Sounds Like She Looks

SEXY SINGER DEPARTMENT: Abbe Lane, who dresses and grimaces and cavorts and wiggles about on stage as if she imagined herself to be some kind of superior "sex goddess," is featured on a new LP called "Be Mine Tonight," backed by the Tito Puente (not husband Xavier Cugat) Orchestra (RCA Victor 1554). The record will interest all those who agree with Abbe's plainly obvious view of herself. Mrs. Cugat sings and groans her way through a dozen songs, ranging from "Whatever Lola Wants" to "Babalu," and her interpretations will probably come over as very provocative material to some. Others will find her breathy exaggerated accents only an amusing caricature of the "femme fatale." This is probably how Jayne Mansfield would sing if she could sing. Most of the music of the "cha-cha-cha" variety. A dozen photos of Abbe in three different tight dresses decorate the album.

Abbe Lane

Caprice Chantal, who has been described as one who "makes Marilyn Monroe look like a boy scout," tries to create the same general impression as Abbe, though not so coarsely, on another new LP, entitled simply "Presenting Caprice Chantal" (RCA Victor LP 1552). This French girl, whose overall appearance is as memorable as her name, does very well on such songs as Lila, Winter Love, and Adieu Foulard. This is Caprice's first album but it is certain not to be her last. Mademoiselle Chantal has some talent to go along with more obvious, and more routine, attributes.

MOOD MUSIC: So much so-called "mood music" is issued on records these days that it's easy to arrive at the conclusion that it's all alike. It isn't. "Dreaming" by Reg Owen and his Orchestra (RCA Victor 1580) is several notches above the average. Owen, a Britisher who arranged for Ted Heath's band from 1951-54, obviously feels that "mood music" need not be dull and dreary. He is not above allowing "mood music" to have a beat, for one thing. The tunes include such pretty ones as Over the Rainbow, Lovely Lady, Embraceable You and My Moonlight Madonna. . . "French Sax" (watch that copy, proofreader) by Franck Pourcel's Parisian Strings (Capitol T10126) is also better than average mood music. The alto saxophone of Jo Krasko is featured, hence the title.

OFF-BEAT STUFF: If you pick up on bongos, then "The End on Bongos" should make it for you (HIFI R-804). The bongo player is Jack Burger and the recorded sound is superb. Cover features a sketch of a topless brunette. Whoever did the sketch can't draw very well. . . And if you like harmonica, "Hi-Fi Harmonica" by Leo Diamond (Roulette R-25019) is surely one to hear. There's a variety of songs ranging from Hindustan to The Night is Young and You're So Beautiful (remember that one) . . . More exceptional sound reproduction is displayed on "Harp With a Beat" featuring harpist Verlye Mills backed by a crack studio band led by Billy May. —T.R.S.

BRIDGE

Alfred
Sheinwold

The easiest way to deceive an opponent is to conceal something from him. No concealment is possible with the dummy, for all of dummy's cards are exposed, but you can still use the dummy to deceive an opponent.

West opened the four of spades, and East held the first trick with the king. East continued with the jack of spades, holding that trick also. East then led his last spade, and South at last took the ace.

Dummy was out of spades by this time and had to make a discard. What should be discarded from dummy on the third spade?

Obviously not a diamond, since all of the diamonds are good tricks. The straightforward discard is a heart, for then South can keep all of dummy's clubs and perhaps can win four club tricks.

A heart discard makes it rather clear that South has no interest in the heart suit. This makes it easy for East to throw a heart or two way, and South must guess the location of the queen of clubs in order to make the game.

WHEN THE hand was actually played, South didn't have to guess. On the third round of spades, South threw a small club from dummy. This made it look as though he had very little interest in the clubs.

Mind you, this wasn't a sure-fire maneuver, guaranteed to deceive even the shrewdest opponent. Nevertheless, this simple play of discarding from the suit that you really want will fool the enemy more often than not.

In this case, it had a great success. East had to discard on the third round of diamonds, and who can blame him for throwing a club rather than a heart? He also had to discard on the fourth diamond, and he then threw another club.

Naturally South had no further trouble in finding the queen of clubs and in making the game and rubber.

jazz

By TOM SCANLAN

BUDDY DeFRANCO, who surely ranks among the best jazz clarinetists, is featured on three new LPs. Best of the three is the one with the late pianist Art Tatum, whose playing has always defied accurate description. As might be expected, Tatum's two-handed piano overshadowed the DeFranco clarinet. Still, Buddy manages to get in some feelingful licks, too, proof of his musicianship. A good example of this is Buddy's final choruses on "You're Mine You," following a typically fine Tatum piano solo. Other tunes that come off well are the seldom-heard oldie Deep Night, Makin' Whoopee, and This Can't Be Love. Album is called The Art Tatum-Buddy DeFranco Quartet (Verve 8229).

Other new DeFranco LPs are "Cooking the Blues" (Verve 8221) and "Sweet and Lovely" (Verve 8224), both with a quintet featuring popular guitarist Tal Farlow. I think the first one is much better, thanks to some moving clarinet by Buddy on Stardust, How About You and Indian Summer. The last one, incidentally, is taken up for a change.

There are certainly many moments on this LP when the frequently-heard complaint against DeFranco—that he plays "cold"—cannot possibly be made. Buddy may frequently be "cool," but he is never "cold," if we must bandy such words around. There are a number of clarinetists this writer enjoys hearing more than DeFranco, but that is simply a matter of taste. DeFranco is "a pro," there can be no question about that.

GOOD DANCE MUSIC, spiced with some jazz solos, is one way to describe a new LP called "Thank You for a Lovely Evening" by a 15-piece band fronted by Billy Butterfield (RCA Victor 1590). Butterfield is one of the really great trumpet players and has been for years. Too bad more people don't realize it. (I'm sure the best of the trumpet players do).

Billy has a number of crackling solos here, and I also enjoyed the tenor sax of Peanuts Hucko, on "Linger Awhile" especially. Hucko, best known as a clarinetist in the Goodman idiom, plays tenor something like Boomie Richmond, i. e., a pleasing if somewhat unusual combination of the sounds and approaches to improvisation generally associated with Lester Young and Eddie Miller. Young and Miller are said to be miles apart by most critics, but the way Richmond and Hucko play would seem to indicate that these tenor "styles" are closer than they think. One of the best things on the set is "Breakin' in a New Pair of Shoes."

ERROLL GARNER is not at his best, to my mind, on his newest LP, "Soliloquy" (Columbia 1060). He frequently sounds like he's imitating himself, and if you can imagine someone doing an unkind caricature of self, you have my impression of this album. Erroll is unaccompanied here, indicating that he plays better with bass and drums accompaniment despite his usually exciting two-handed orchestral approach to piano.

Is an Upturn Bound to Come?

By H. R. BAUKHAGE

WHICH way will the ball bounce?

About the only people in the country who aren't worrying over that question are the ones who, firm in the belief that it's going to keep on bouncing, are willing and able to go fishin', and let the pikers, pundits and politicians fight over how far the recession will recede.

Meanwhile the average taxpayer, less immediately concerned with what his income will be than how much Uncle Sam will take away from him, is probably somewhat bemused by the admixture of politics and economics which is being prepared in Washington for use in case it is decided that the business outlook is really serious enough to warrant a tax cut.

Tax cuts mean deficits. Republicans don't like deficits but they like depressions less. It took them a long time to get over the last one.

The Democrats aren't as allergic to tax cuts and, politically, a depression would be their meat as well as the Republicans' poison. On the other hand the "built-in" cushions of which we have heard so much, and which the Government is supposed to be able to use to keep the economy air-suspended and stable have proved such strong medicine on some occasions that some feel the cure might prove as bad as, or worse than, the disease. The Democrats don't want themselves left open to the charge that, because of legislation they forced through Congress (in an attempt to beat the Administration to it) they were guilty of what the President has called "fiscal irresponsibility."

Senator Douglas, (D., Ill.) calls for a tax cut. The purpose, he says, is to restore prosperity by increasing the buying power of the general public. In other words reducing the taxes in the lower personal income brackets.

The Republicans, or at least the more conservative members of the party, believe that the only way to improve business is to encourage investment, and stimulate business expansion by easing the excise burden at the top.

SO FAR, increasing the flow of credit, now reinforced by the reduction of required reserves doesn't satisfy everybody.

"But what is the use," asks some of the critics of the FRB, "of adding ever more to this supply of credit when businessmen, far from standing in line to borrow, are repaying large quantities of loans week by week?"

This viewpoint is shared by those who look rather dimly at all kinds of pump-priming whether it be at the top or bottom.

They take the view that the body economic is much like the human body. If you stuff it for too long, indigestion results and light rations are the best cure for it. And since the body is fundamentally healthy, a little time can heal a lot of wounds. The theory is that the people have bought all they can hold for a while. Replacements are all they want or need. Business, after expanding to supply the peak demands, now feels disposed to operate within its present limits.

That is why the "long-term investor," whether he be rich, well-to-do or doing well enough to ride out a short squall, is not worrying.

GM Dollar Sales Up in 1957

NEW YORK. — General Motors' dollar sales in 1957 were greater than 1956 and the second highest in history, Harlow H. Curtice, president, and Albert Bradley, chairman of the board, disclosed this week in their annual report. However, increased costs resulted in lower net income than in 1956, they said.

The report soon will be distributed to more than 725,000 shareholders — an all-time high. Only 355 shareholders supplied the initial capital when the original company was founded in 1908.

"Consumer and business spending reached record levels in 1957 but have eased off somewhat in recent months," Curtice and Bradley said. "This trend may well continue during the remainder of the first half of 1958. During the second half, there is hope that the principal factors that have caused the downturn will be reversed. On balance, 1958 can be a year of good business."

"The current outlook for the automobile industry is for another year of intense competition with the indicated volume being less than in 1957. How much less, it is difficult to appraise at the present time."

Highlights of the report included:

Dollar sales in 1957 totaled $10,990 million, compared with $10,796 million in 1956. The 1957 figure was second only to that of record 1955.

"With defense sales for the second successive year accounting for only five percent of General Motors' total business, sales of civilian products alone in 1957 amounted to $10,430 million, which was slightly higher than in 1956 and more than total sales for any year prior to 1955," the report said.

Mt. Washington QM Test Site Slated to Move

NATICK, Mass.—The operation of the Army Quartermaster Corps Mount Washington Test Site, Gorham, N.H., will be transferred on March 15 to the Maynard Quartermaster Test Site Activity in Maynard, Mass., it was announced last week by Headquarters, Quartermaster Research and Engineering Command.

Approximately 100 troops will be involved in the move, to be made for reasons of economy and efficiency inherent in the proximity of the Maynard QMTA to the Quartermaster Research and Engineering Center Laboratories.

The Maynard installation will also permit an integrated, all-season laboratory and field test program.

The Gorham site will be held on a standby basis for future Mt. Washington winter testing of Quartermaster equipment.

45th AAA Forms Own Credit Union

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, Ill.—Military and civilian personnel of the 45th AAA Brig. recently formed their own credit union here.

About 500 military and civilian personnel and their families are eligible for membership. Key man is Robert J. Carroll. The credit union is owned and operated entirely by its members under law and government charter.

Of the 23,000 credit unions in the Western Hemisphere, over 400 are operated by military and civilian personnel of the armed forces.

The Air Force has 171; Army, 128; Navy, 96; Marines, 13; and Coast Guard, eight, according to the Credit Union National Association.

teriel Coordination Committee which assisted in the development and standardization of the transfusion equipment, cites several logistic advantages for the new development. The plastic blood pack units, for example, are light weight and occupy far less space than the sets presently in general use.

Plastic blood pack units needed for collecting 144 pints of blood weigh about 51 pounds and occupy 1.6 cubic feet. Sets in use now required to collect the same amount of blood weigh approximately 225 pounds and occupy 9.5 cubic feet in storage.

The plastic pack is in one piece—no separate donor set is needed. Less space is required on aircraft, ships, trucks, and other transportation to move the essential equipment and blood, and critical storage space is saved both at home and abroad.

THE MEDICAL Equipment Development Laboratory of the armed services at Fort Totten, N.Y., developed a lightweight, more economical, disposable blood refrigerant shipping container.

Development of this item has resulted in a saving in initial procurement of $725,000. The new container allows for wider, more efficient distribution, and because it is disposable, savings are being made through elimination of shipping costs previously required for return of non-disposable containers.

Combination of the plastic transfusion equipment and the new blood container has additional logistic advantage. The new disposable shipping container, can hold nine filled glass blood containers or 18 filled plastic blood packs—thus doubling the shipping capacity.

IBM Shows New Computer

WASHINGTON—International Business Machines Corp.'s traveling "spectacular" of electronic office equipment stopped here for a six-day visit on its swing through the country.

The company's 305 RAMAC data processing system, a revolutionary computer with a storage capacity of 5 million digits, was the star performer of the touring electronic troupe.

The company also showed off a new desk-size computer, the 632 Electronic Typing Calculator; a new pocket-size card punch called IBM Port-a-Punch, and the 8200 Time Punch machine.

RAMAC (Random Access Method of Accounting and Control), which will be on exhibit at the World's Fair in Brussels, Belgium, this year, automatically rattles off within seconds information on where items of stock are located, how many are in stock, the price of each, how much the order will come to, and whether the order will go beyond the customer's credit range.

It does all this through a series of coded IBM cards a secretary feeds through a slot into the machine.

The machine also automatically punches out on invoice forms, the customer's name and address. It even suggests a substitute item if the one the customer wants isn't in stock.

RAMAC, which the Navy put through a test for 18 months at its supply center in Norfolk, is in operation at the supply center in Newport, R.I. Army and Air Force supply officials are also studying the machine.

Nike Support Shop

SEATTLE, Wash.—Lease Co., Inc., of Seattle has been awarded a $324,699 contract for construction of a Nike heavy support shop at Fort Richardson, Alaska.

The Seattle firm was awarded the contract after submitting low bid on the project, which the government estimated would cost $393,617.

Work includes construction of a shop with concrete frame structure, concrete floor slab and a pitched corrugated aluminum roof, of approximately 12,000 square feet floor area.

Also included is interior painting, interior and exterior electrical and mechanical systems, about 3000 square yards of asphalt concrete paving, area grading, topsoiling and seeding.

Completion date is October 31.

Flight School Bids

CAMP GARY, Tex.—An invitation for bids on a new fiscal '58 contract here has attracted five civil aviation firms which would like to operate this primary flying school for the Fourth Army.

One of them hopes merely to continue present operation. He is William J. Graham, president of William J. Graham & Son, Inc., which has operated the school since its changeover to a civilian-contract post in October, 1956.

The other four who took part in a two-day proposers conference recently are Walter Gunstream, representing the Texas Aviation Industries Co., operating Hondo Air Base, Tex., which is now slated for shut-down; Ralph Martin, controller from California Eastern Aviation operating Moore Air Base in Mission, Tex.; S. L. Wilson, senior vice president from Transocean Airlines, Oakland, Calif.; and Frank Beiser of Beiser Aviation Corp., which operated Marana Air Base under Air Force contract prior to that school's closing.

New Radar Technique

NEW YORK.—A new technique in pulsed radar permitting faster scanning and faster pulse repetition rates, without resolution or range loss, has been developed by the W. L. Maxson Corp.

Employing repetition rates greater than those used with conventional systems, the technique was invented by Elliot L. Gruenberg, staff engineering manager, and Murray Simpson, technical director of the company's radar system laboratory. Details of the FASTAR system were discussed in a paper by the inventors delivered recently at a symposium held at Michigan University.

FASTAR uses a large antenna which scans electronically in elevation or azimuth, or both. Long range and rapid scanning result with mechanical problems minimized. To avoid missing objects at great distances, radars other than FASTAR must scan at slow rates.

Engineer Instruction

FORT BELVOIR, Va.—Non-resident, as well as resident, instruction will be offered in the professional engineer preparatory course being offered to qualified military and civilian personnel by the Engineer School here.

Greater Depth of Field, Coverage Features of Wide-Angle Lenses

CAMERA

By JACOB DESCHIN

WITH winter snow, wind, cold and rain breaking through even the normal immunity of sunny Florida, it is but simple charity to fetch reminders that spring is also on the calendar. The illustration on this page bears pleasant witness.

It also points up to a use for the wide-angle lens, in this case a 28mm. The lens not only permitted extensive coverage in breadth to show off this display of clover blossoms in full bloom, but yielded satisfactory depth of field.

The wide-angle lens has been growing in favor among amateurs ever since the professional photojournalist discovered its usefulness not so much in wider coverage than with the normal focal-length lens (50mm on the 35mm camera) as in promoting the feeling of relationships between people and objects in a picture.

The closer the camera to the nearest subject, the deeper the perspective and the greater the size differences between near and far planes. The sense of separateness is increased and the feeling of distance is intensified. The result appears truer to life than is possible with the normal lens.

One has only to compare the results taken with a normal lens and a wide angle of the same subject to notice the difference, and the potentials. The shorter the lens focal length the more pronounced is the effect. Parallel lines receding into the distance, as in a street scene or a country road, give a feeling of moving visually toward an infinite point.

A handy facility of the wide-angle lens is its extreme depth of field, which even at average apertures offers enough sharply defined area so that the pictures can be shot quickly at quite a range of distances without refocusing. This is obviously a considerable advantage when shooting a mobile situation, in candid photography when there is little time or opportunity for focusing, and in action photography.

Quite a number of cameras in the low-to-medium price class now offer the interchangeable lens feature that permits use of a wide-angle lens. Some less expensive miniatures have lenses that are a compromise between the normal and wide-angle fields, a 44mm or 45mm instead of 50mm, which is fairly adequate for moderate wide-angle work. With one of these the amateur can experiment, though of course in a limited way, with the possibilities of the wide-angle effect.

THE GEORGE EASTMAN House of Photography (Rochester, N. Y.) reports a record attendance of 254,366 visitors during 1957, the largest total in its eight-year history. The total for the eight years is more than a million and a half, the report adds. Once the home of George Eastman, the museum has become a world center for source material on photography's history. It's worth a visit if you ever happen to be anywhere in the area.

The handsome building houses at least one original example of every major event in the history of photography, original letters and literature relating to the medium, and photographs and motion picture film of historical significance. One large exhibition area is devoted to the modern uses of photography, and a gallery on an upper floor is used to show the work of leading photographers, both past and present.

The Dryden Theatre, an auditorium in the museum that seats 600, is designed for lectures, demonstrations, and the showing of moving pictures from the museum's collection.

Films from the historical collection, the result of an active program to preserve important films, are screened at free matinees Saturday and Sunday afternoons, and evenings during fall, winter and spring. Lectures are given to point out the features that make the films noteworthy historically and esthetically.

Among other features of the museum are the series of traveling exhibits, seven of which are now touring the country, and "Image," the only photographic publication dealing with historical subjects. The magazine, which has 6000 readers, is sent regularly to Associate Members of the museum, who receive research assistance and other benefits.

CHAPLAIN Bruno L. Caliendo, 7222d Air Base Sq., APO 291, New York, N. Y., is listed as one of the silver medallion "U. S. Camera Cine Circle Award" winners in the Twelve Best Amateur Films for 1957 contest sponsored by U. S. Camera Magazine. The winner of the top award among the 12 is Robert Board of Los Angeles, Calif., who received the gold medallion Robert J. Flaherty Memorial Award for his color film, "The Mute," which has a synchronized musical background on magnetic tape. Reviews of all 12 winning films appear in the March (current) issue of the magazine.

IF YOU HAVE taken Polaroid Land pictures that please you particularly and you wish you could get an enlargement, the Polaroid Corporation has announced that it is ready to oblige—at $4 for an 8x10-inch enlargement complete in a de luxe salon mount with embossed cover.

These are not just run-of-the-mill enlargements but are custom-made to get "the most pleasing enlargement" possible from your precious 3 1/4 x 4 1/4-inch original, according to Polaroid. "The new service provides individual analysis of each picture to select the best printing paper, toning, cropping, dodging and retouching needed," the announcement explains. "Professional portrait studio techniques are used throughout the new service, which employs skilled photographic technicians specializing in each step of the process."

Send orders to Polaroid Copy Service, Polaroid Corp., Cambridge 39, Mass., and mention this paper.

THE SPEED GRAPHIC, still the American press photographer's mainstay, in spite of the hue and cry in favor of the 35mm, will be available soon in a completely modernized version. Redesigned along simpler, more attractive lines to appeal to the eye, it also incorporates several impressive features that will make this traditional work horse of the press photographer more compact.

Now called the Super Graphic 45, the 4x5 camera has a light and sturdy frame of extruded aluminum and is no longer all black but a two-tone gray with charcoal covering. It will cost $375 equipped with the 135mm f/4.7 Graflex Optar lens in fully synchronized shutter.

AM's The American-Cinderella Car of '58

some surfaces than many Americans are used to, due to the relatively short wheelbase. Passengers do not bob up and down constantly, however, nor is there any of the wallowing action after hitting a bump as is common in many larger, very softly sprung cars.

The American feels very stable even thru very tight turns and its compact size makes it highly maneuverable. Foreign cars aficionados will probably say that it does not have the crisp handling and steering qualities of their beloved imports—and, to some extent, at least, they will be right. It certainly is well above par by U.S. standards, however.

In general, the American is a blend of characteristics of imported economy sedans and standard U.S. cars. It will have less appeal for the type of buyer who really would like a sports car, but buys an imported sedan because either he can't afford the sports model or needs more room, than for the foreign car buyer interested in sheer utility and economy.

There will not be much about the American to intrigue the type who is interested in foreign cars because of various unique engineering features they possess. The small Rambler is a very straightforward design, every component having been proven and developed by years of use.

The engine is a long-stroke, flat-head inline six with a displacement of 195.6 inches. Not spectacular or high-revving, its chief virtues are simplicity. (The American, as a result, requires far less gear-shifting than comparable imports.)

Suspension is by coil springs at the independently mounted front wheels, semi-elliptic leaf springs at rear. Three transmission choices are offered — conventional three-speed, and overdrive and automatic.

It's this last feature that American Motors is counting on to make a hit with the ladies.

Here's Q&A On Merit Promotions

By XAVIER BOYLE

By the time you read this the House Post Office and Civil Service committee will have finished writing its report on federal classified employee pay raise legislation.

It is expected to go for a figure somewhat higher than the Senate committee's 7.5 percent raise, but a compromise between the two will not be too difficult.

THE CIVIL Service Commission has issued a series of questions and answers to better acquaint employees with the new merit promotion program.

Here are some of the most important:

Q. What are the principal features of the new promotion program?

A. Each agency must have written plans for promoting from among best qualified employees. They must: 1. Publish their promotion policy for all employees to see. 2. Consult with employees and employee organizations on the policy. 3. Document promotion actions. 4. Let employees know where they stand in the promotion picture.

Q. What is a merit promotion plan?

A. A written statement of requirements and procedures to be followed by an agency in making promotions, including employee groups who will be considered for various positions.

Q. Where can an employee get a copy of the promotion plan that affects jobs he is interested in?

A. Through his agency's personnel office.

Q. When does the new promotion program go into effect?

A. On or before Jan. 1, 1959.

Q. Will agencies have to fill jobs by promotion?

A. No. Transfers and outside hiring can still be used.

Q. How will employees be compared to determine the best qualified?

A. Some by an agency head, some by a promotion board, some by written tests—depending upon the particular job and plan set out for it.

Q. How will my agency promote from among those employees just best qualified?

A. A supervisor will generally be free to select any of the candidates whose names are submitted to him for selection. A plan may require employees be ranked in order and selection made from the five highest. Or they may be put into groups as "outstanding," "well qualified," and "qualified," and the selection made from the outstanding men.

Q. Will the new program bring about more promotions?

A. No.

Q. Will the new program help employees in dead-end jobs?

A. In many cases, it should—because it broadens the areas of consideration for promotion.

Q. Does the new program cover transfers from one agency to another when a raise in pay is involved?

A. No.

Q. Does it cover moves between offices or bureaus of a particular department or agency when a grade raise is involved?

A. Yes.

Q. If my personnel officers rates me not qualified can I appeal this action?

A. Yes. Employee grievances will be heard.

"Forget it, Hans, your MOS does not cover repair jobs."

Puerto Rico EM Win Trip To Panama for Suggestions

FORT BROOKE, P.R.—Five enlisted men of Army Forces Antilles and Military District of Puerto Rico made ideas pay off when they were selected recently to receive all-expense trips to Panama and the Virgin Islands, cash and suggestion award certificates.

This is the second group of enlisted men from this command to receive this honor. Their combined suggestions to Army's "Project Paydirt" suggestion program will save the Army $15,000 annually, it was estimated.

Brig. Gen. James W. Coatts, commanding USARFANT, MDP, congratulated the winners and presented the awards during a ceremony in his office at Fort Brooke, P.R.

Recipients of the certificates and trips to Panama, were SFC Angelo Persi, Antilles Ordnance Section; SFC Francis W. Fowl, Antilles Quartermaster Section; PFC Norman L. Kelley, Antilles Signal Office, and MSgt. William J. Sammis, of Personnel Center, Fort Buchanan. Going on a trip to the Virgin Islands will be SP3 David S. Bingham, Antilles Signal Office.

Men leaving for Panama will call on the commanding general, Army Caribbean, upon their arrival in the Canal Zone and will visit historic points of interest in Panama City and the Pacific-site installations.

Enlisted men of Army Forces Antilles and Military District of Puerto Rico are offered the opportunity to win an all-expense paid trip to Panama as the main prize for best suggestions for improvements in efficiency and effectiveness of Army operations and procedures.

Fort Lee Opens First Capeharts

FORT LEE, Va. — Three families occupied apartments in the Capehart housing development here last week to mark the beginning of a new and long-awaited era for permanent family housing at Fort Lee.

Before week's end, another seven families had moved into their new homes in the Capehart area, and according to Capt. John H. Funston, post housing officer, eight more are scheduled for occupancy this week. This trickle of families is expected to grow to an influx of 20 to 30 per week by spring, he added, as more and more buildings are accepted by the Army Engineers from the contractor, the AlCon Construction Company, of Beverly Hills, Calif.

The 500 family units of the Capehart project will be divided equally among officers and enlisted men, according to the office of the assistant chief of staff, G-4, QM Training Command. The overall cost of the construction and allied work will be approximately $17,500,000, and 116 separate buildings are included in the project.

All 116 buildings are expected to be completed, turned over to the Army and fully occupied by late summer or early fall.

IN JULY, 1956, when bids were opened on the 500-unit Capehart project, Fort Lee offered only 300 sets of permanent family quarters to newcomers — the privately operated Wherry project known as the Fort Lee Apartments. Since that time, a 76 unit project has been completed from MCA (Military Construction Army) funds, and another group of 26 family apartments is now under way, also

History Unit Is Organized At Fort Lewis

FORT LEWIS, Wash.—Gov. Albert D. Rosellini and Gen. Mark W. Clark head a list of citizens accepting honorary membership in the new Fort Lewis Historical Society.

Gen. Clark, now president of the Citadel University in South Carolina, will serve as the society's president and Gov. Rosellini as vice president.

The War II commander of Fifth Army in Italy, later named Allied commander in Austria and supreme commander of United Nations forces in the Far East during the Korean conflict, declared:

"I am delighted that you are planning to establish a Fort Lewis Historical Society. Having spent four most happy years at Fort Lewis with my family, and having a high opinion of that part of the country, I will be most happy and proud to accept the position of honorary president of the Society."

Maj. Gen. William W. Quinn, 4th Inf. Div. and Fort Lewis commander, said he had invited President Eisenhower, who was stationed at Fort Lewis in 1940-41, to accept the honorary presidency of the Society but was informed by a White House aide that the President would be unable to serve.

Gen. Clark was a major at Fort Lewis with the 3d Inf. Div. in the late 1930s. Among his duties here were those of public information officer.

Work of the advisory board will include helping guide development of Fort Lewis' new museum. A building and staff for the museum have already been selected.

ON VIRGINIA'S coldest day of the winter, the family of Chaplain (Capt.) Howard W. Marsh, left, arrived at its new Capehart quarters at Fort Lee. On hand to greet the first family to occupy one of the 500 sets of quarters being built at Lee was Col. Louis H. Shirley, right, deputy post commander, who presented keys to seven-year-old Richard. With Mrs. Marsh are Margaret Ann and Howard Jr. Two younger children already were asleep when the picture was taken.

financed from Congress-appropriated money.

By the end of this year, Fort Lee's available total of permanent family quarters will reach 902 units. A project for 304 additional sets of quarters, with 154 of them earmarked for occupancy by Air Force personnel has been approved, but the final steps necessary before bid-letting have not yet been taken by the Department of Defense.

All of these planned and completed quarters, however, will provide homes on post in permanent buildings for considerably less than half the officer and enlisted men at Fort Lee who, under Army regulations are entitled to government quarters.

THE OFFICIAL "first family" in the new Capehart area on Monday was that of Chaplain (Capt.) Howard W. Marsh, who with his wife and five children moved from their temporary home at Prince George Courthouse.

Col. Louis H. Shirley, deputy post commander, was on hand at the March's new apartment to present them with the keys, which were accepted with a broad grin by seven-year old Richard Marsh.

All was in readiness for the new families, and Lt. Col. Joe Flake, post transportation officer, coordinated their packing, moving and unloading. Only the weather was uncooperative, and the moves were accomplished in the sub-freezing weather which blanketed the area.

The federal government assumed ownership of the Wherry project, the Fort Lee Apartments, late last year and all of its 300 units were immediately classified as government quarters.

Seattle Engineer To Relocate at Army Terminal

SEATTLE.—The Army Engineer District, Seattle, has acquired the former Seattle Army Terminal location at 1519 South Alaskan Way and will move to that installation about June 1, 1958.

Col. R. J. B. Page, district engineer, signed the agreement accepting care and custody of the large waterfront property from the Army Transportation Corps, which operated the installation until the Terminal was inactivated Oct. 1, 1957.

Col. John B. Grinstead, commanding officer, U.S. Army Transportation Terminal Agency, Seattle, who was commander at SAT at the time of its closing, represented the Transportation Corps in the installation's transfer to the Corps of Engineers effective Feb. 1, 1958.

Moving of the Seattle District headquarters and other agencies from the Seattle General Depot, 4735 East Marginal Way, will involve about 1000 employees. Plans have been under consideration several months, since the Air Force requested transfer of this installation for use by the Boeing Airplane Company to expand its B-57 guided-missile production program.

Retrained Cook Named Top Nike Man at Los Angeles

FORT MACARTHUR, Calif. — A former Army cook turned Nike missile technician has been named 1957 "Soldier of the Year," for the Army's Los Angeles Nike Defense Command.

Brig. Gen. Willis A. Perry, 47th Antiaircraft Artillery Brigade commander, announced that SP3 Ronald M. Renaud is the command's title winner.

"To be named Soldier of the Year," Gen. Perry said, "he must have contributed materially to the Los Angeles Nike defense. Formerly a cook, Renaud asked to become a missile launcher crewman last spring. He was allowed to do so in his Playa del Rey site unit and has become extremely proficient.

"He has done so well that he has improved the battery's training program, which he instructs. His proficiency as senior launcher crewman has improved the performance of his launcher crew. These directly benefit the air defense of Los Angeles," the general said.

Renaud was officially awarded the title, and the awards that go with it, in Gen. Perry's office at Fort MacArthur. At that time he received a 36" personal trophy, the "Commanding General's Soldier of the Year" Award.

In addition Renaud received a Certificate of Achievement from the general and was honored at a military review.

A five-day trip to San Francisco also awaits Renaud and his wife, when in March Pacific Southwest Airlines flies the couple to the Golden Gate City. There they will be provided with tickets to many events.

Already, as one of the finalists, Renaud was presented with a $40 award to purchase the new Army Green uniform.

Renaud, who is assigned to Btry. B, 865th Missile Bn. at Playa del Rey, also received tickets to a movie, Disneyland, a chain of West Coast theatres and other awards.

To become Soldier of the Year, Renaud was first selected from among 110 men of his Nike Battery by Capt. Leo M. Luedtke. Along with 18 others nominated from the 16 Nike sites of the 108 AAA Group and three headquarters units, he then appeared before a four-man board of officers and senior NCOs.

Fourth Army 'Fix-up' Program Saves U. S. Millions

FORT SAM HOUSTON, Tex. — A self-help program, geared to save taxpayers millions of dollars, was successfully initiated in the Fourth Army area last year.

Referred to as "Operation Fix-up," the program is a do-it-yourself plan which allows soldiers to improve and maintain their immediate living and recreation areas by doing minor repair work themselves.

Already many thousands of dollars have been saved since the "home repair" plan was initiated by Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker in 1952. It is expected that each succeeding year will show more and more savings to the military.

The program was started to improve living conditions for soldiers by encouraging them to help maintain the upkeep of their immediate living areas. Fourth Army Engineer Col. Carl Y. Farrell is its activity director.

Soldiers wielding saws, hammers and paint brushes during off-duty hours are sprucing up barracks, messhalls and dayrooms, putting their own ideas into effect.

Some amazing results have been shown in the way of home improvements since the program began.

AT FORT POLK, soldier-handymen have brightened up mess halls, dayrooms and barracks by painting and repairing floors, walls and ceilings. Only projects within normal work capabilities are undertaken.

Stepped up maintenance of grounds and grassed areas at Fort Chaffee, Ark., has resulted in a continuous beautification project second to none for the effort expended. Since the program started, soldier interest in landscaping lawns and recreation areas has increased to the point that dozens of volunteers constantly spend off-duty time improving their surroundings. Under the self-help program only minor maintenance work is undertaken. Electrical, heating or other projects which require skilled labor are prohibited.

Repair and minor modifications to training facilities at the Fort Sill, Okla., Artillery and Guided Missile Center, have been accomplished by soldier home repair men. Soldier volunteers have also painted and improved the interiors of their barracks and dayrooms.

SOLDIERS AT Fort Hood, Tex., have replaced broken window panes, screens, hardware, and have made minor plumbing and fence repairs in their areas. Rock retaining walls around unit orderly rooms have been erected to provide erosion control, and flowers have been planted to bring a touch of home to the troops.

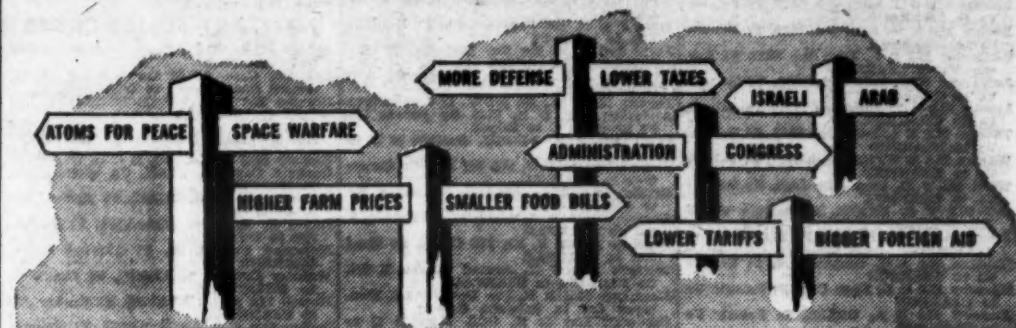

Other Army installations in the Fourth Army area have followed suit in making improvements in their living conditions. At each post, lumber and other building material, tools and paint, are made available and work planning and accomplishment supervised by the post engineer. Many soldiers who have never handled tools are amazed at their hidden talents as potential plumbers, carpenters, painters and gardeners.

The self-help program in the Fourth Army area has not only become a popular pastime with troops, but will save money which can be used later for larger projects.

Washington

By Carol Arndt

Washington streets had hardly been cleared of the BIG SNOW and stalled cars when they were once again crammed. This time by the celebrants of the first president's birthday. No other city, perhaps, gets so completely wrapped up in this annual party. Reason: it's bargain day in the nation's capital.

I don't know how or why it started, but each year the local merchants vie with each other on Washington's birthday to offer the most spectacular bargains. Knowing this, people from miles around arrive the day before to spot good buys and when the shops open on the 22d, lines of shoppers rush in to buy specials.

Advertisements listed unbelievable prices to lure buyers. For instance, one merchant offered 21-inch TV consoles for $49; another was selling them for $1.99; and still another advertised 7-inch TVs for 99 cents.

This year an auto dealer got into the show, too. He threw accessories on the market for one cent each. These included five white side-wall tires, a set of plastic seat covers, a car radio, car heater, floor mats, undercoating and dual mirrors, all for a penny a piece.

At a discount house cameras were selling for as little as 22 cents; a brand name 3/4 h.p. air conditioner for $7; a wringer washer in "working condition" for $2; typewriters for $3; suits, coats, jackets, slacks and shirts were give aways at 92 cents.

At the reception given by Army Chief of Staff, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, and Mrs. Taylor for the military attaches of the various foreign embassies and their wives, guests were enjoying themselves so much that they remained chatting long after the host and hostess had left and the food had run out.

This annual party was scheduled for 6 to 8 p.m. The Taylors left shortly before 8, but an hour later most of the guests were still on hand.

Close to 80 countries were represented and their flags were hung along one side of the large upstairs reception room of the Officers' Club at Fort McNair, where the party was held.

American Army guests included the Assistant Secretary of the Army and Mrs. George H. Roderick; Gen. L. L. Lemnitzer, vice chief of staff, and Mrs. Lemnitzer; Maj. Gen. Robert A. Schow, assistant chief of staff for intelligence, and Mrs. Schow; and Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, commanding general of Walter Reed Army Medical Center, and Mrs. Heaton.

Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Thomas J. Hartford are in the midst of a series of farewell parties. Gen. Hartford, who has been deputy hospital commander at Walter Reed, is leaving Washington to become commanding general of the Madigan Hospital at Tacoma, Wash.

COME IN!

Coffee Break

With Karla Edwards

With this issue of Army Times I am happy to be celebrating one year of writing Coffee Break. To me the past year has been a short one, for meeting a deadline each week really makes the days fly by in a hurry! I don't want to sound corny, but I can't help hoping that Times readers have enjoyed Coffee Break only half as much as I have enjoyed writing it each week.

A different and practical idea for a sick bed tray for a small child is the smallest size red wagon you can buy. (Ours is about 20 inches long and about 10 inches wide between the wheels). It makes a perfect tray for meals, and with a bread board placed on top—writing or drawing space. I used ours recently when our oldest was in bed for two days with a bad cold and it made quite a hit with him!

• The furnace goes on the blink only during the coldest week in January—and the car only fails to start on the day I have an appointment with the doctor. The city turns off the water to repair a broken water main only on the day that three couples are coming for dinner. My husband wants a sirloin steak only when there isn't one in the refrigerator, so naturally I only get a bad toothache the evening of a big formal reception!

I make at least five times the mess when I make pancakes with a packaged mix than my husband does making pancakes from scratch. I think mine taste just as good as his, but I must admit the extra time and work make his a more special treat.

• It's income tax time again. This year, as last, we had help from a public accountant in town in making out the long form. According to him a home buyer, or anyone making car and/or time payments, would be foolish not to make out the long form in which you list all the deductions yourself. Might be a good idea to talk to the local Internal Revenue Service or a public accountant if there is any question as to which form is best to use. With my added earnings we were hoping only to break even this year. But imagine our delight and surprise when we learned we will receive a sizable refund!

Last week found me cutting off two pair of girl's corduroy boxer pants to bermuda shorts length. (Or just above the worn out knees!) With her sweat-shirt, thick-rib cuffed socks, saddle shoes and new shorts, our almost-four-year-old looked more the collegiate than pre-school type!

• The morning after a big party the night before (at which I'd begin yawning around 10:30 and we'd departed at eleven) my husband started singing, "The old gray mare, she ain't what she used to be..." Noticing my belligerent look he laughed, and still claims it was strictly a coincidence!

More than any other news commentator I enjoy Paul Harvey... for his unique news reporting, his talent for story telling and his fast-growing club called "Don't Worry, Nothing Will Turn Out All Right Anyway!"

NOTES FROM KNOX

Wives Hear Style Expert; Thrift Shop Fashions Seen

FORT KNOX, Ky. — Women's groups here have been busy with thoughts of spring and style shows to counteract the dreary winter weather.

The Women's Club of the Armor Center Officers' Open Mess had as guest speaker at the February luncheon meeting, Miss Ruth Hovermale of the University of Louisville, who gave a talk on style trends.

Miss Hovermale introduced five models and did a running commentary on the outfits they wore. The models, all members of the club, wore new arrivals in spring clothes from a local dress shop. Modeling were:

Mrs. James H. Leach, Mrs. John Shea, Mrs. E. Bruce Peters and Mrs. Arthur Freet.

Hostesses for this affair were ladies from the Armor Board and the Maintenance Board, as follows: Mrs. Robin K. Chater, Mrs. Charles A. Busch, Mrs. Charles V. Pregaldin, Mrs. Charles S. Hymers, Mrs. John W. Hohl, Mrs. Henry W. Urrutia, Mrs. John G. Gram-zow, Mrs. Wallace A. McDaniel, Mrs. Edward D. Northrop and Mrs. George H. Andrews.

Mrs. Joseph de Marsche made illustrative charts, which the speaker used in her talk.

Wives of officers of the Advance Class, Armor School, held a style show at the Country Club, modeling dresses, suits and coats from the thrift shop. Coffee and dessert was served.

Mrs. James Krogh was chairman of the affair.

Mrs. James I. King, wife of Brig. Gen. King, deputy commandant of the school was a special guest.

The Mothers Club of the Knox nursery school plans to hold a costume jewelry sale this month to raise money for the purchase of toys.

Mrs. Philip S. Richardson is president of the club.

The Command and Staff Section gave a luncheon and style show in which casual sportswear, cocktail dresses and suits were modeled by six members of the group. Models included Mrs. George Hoffmaster, Mrs. Donald Treat, Mrs. William Lynch, Mrs. Ira B. Richards, Mrs. Julius Levy and Mrs. Fred Allen.

Miss Betty Van Hook, at the piano, provided background music.

Sgt. Seeks Art Information; Frozen Milk Is Satisfactory

Appraisal Wanted

While we were stationed in Germany several years ago I bought some oil paintings. Most of them are contemporary but one is old. It was sold to me as a master's work but is unsigned. I would guess it to be about 150 years old. Is there a shop or gallery in the Washington, D.C., area where I can take this old painting to find out what it is worth?

Sgt. P. B.

Milk Can be Frozen

Regarding the letter from Mrs. J. O. C. in a recent issue of Army Times, milk can be frozen. We have been freezing milk for quite some time and have never had any trouble with it.

There are just two things to remember:

1. When you want to use the milk, let it defrost over night.
2. Be sure to shake it up well before opening the carton.

MSgt. F. J. G.

Keep Milk in Cartons

To freeze milk it must be homogenized and in wax cartons. Will thaw in time for breakfast if set out night before. Takes less time in summer. It does separate but a few vigorous shakes, and it's like fresh.

Don't know how we ever managed without our freezer. I feed four on $120 minus $24.03 payments.

Mrs. Lt. Col.

Germany Bound

We are getting ready for our first trip to Germany. Should I take enough clothing for myself and daughters, aged three and five, to last us about two years? Or do Army-run clothing stores carry an adequate selection in all sizes to make it practical to buy as we need? How about shoes? None of us have figure problems or wear unusual sizes.

I would also like to know if I should take more than two or three cocktail-type dresses and if I'll need a really formal dance gown.

We will be living within easy driving distance of Frankfurt. Does Frankfurt have an American thrift shop? I'd like to hear from someone stationed there or someone who has recently returned.

Mrs. J. E.

Concerning Handbag

To the reader who asked about having an alligator handbag restitched: I once bought a leather bag in Mexico and carried it seven years before it wore and needed re-stitching. Fortunately we were stationed in Germany at the time (a country noted for leather work), so I took mine to a local leather shop. All the lacing was replaced and a new shoulder strap made of matching leather. Cost: $4.

This was four years ago and my bag is still in excellent condition.

THEY SEW IT AND SHOW IT

Redstone Arsenal Wives Display Needle Skills

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. — Fashion was the keynote at a luncheon held by the Redstone Arsenal Officers Wives Club when 200 members saw an informal "Sew It and Show It" fashion review. More than 30 models, representing all three installations at the Arsenal, displayed their skill with the needle during the show.

Styles ranged from that old standby, the suit, to the very latest in sack dresses and sheaths, and included original creations as well as those made from standard patterns.

One of the most interesting of the dresses shown was made entirely of burlap, with hat and handbag to match. It was modeled by Mrs. H. H. Northington.

The club was decorated to carry out the fashion theme, with yards of dressmaking material gracefully draped over screens at the entrance and used as a backdrop for the sherry tables. The piece de resistance, however, was a bridal gown. This gown was supplied by Mrs. C. K. Woody and had been made for her by her mother, Mrs. J. B. Medaris, wife of the commander of the Ballistic Missile Agency.

The program was opened by Mrs.

L. B. Hunt, who sang two selections.

Mrs. W. J. Durrenberger acted as fashion moderator.

The hostess committee was under the guidance of Mrs. T. T. Paul, assisted by Mrs. R. C. Gildart, Mrs. T. J. Seigler, Mrs. J. T. Newman, Mrs. G. H. Drewry, Mrs. R. P. Hazzard, Mrs. S. C. Skemp, Mrs. B. T. Beal, Mrs. C. K. Woody, Mrs. Nelson Jean and Mrs. Emmett Kelly.

AT YOUR SERVICE

NO PROVISION

Q. Does the Army have a provision for 75 percent retired pay for reservists at age 60 (Title III retirement) because of special commendation for combat performance?

A. It does not. When there is a promotion on the retired list for such commendation, it is purely honorary and does not increase retired pay.

CORRECTLY PAID

Q. When I re-enlisted in March 1954, I was paid under the old bonus plan. Shouldn't I have received the higher pay under the new plan? Is there anything I can do about it now?

A. As the new (higher pay) plan for reenlistment did not become effective until July 16, 1954, you were correctly paid.

WAITING ORDERS' PAY

Q. A fellow officer told me he got some money back from the Army under the "waiting orders" Act for the time before he was called to duty after being commissioned. Please tell me what the Act covered?

A. Public Law 561, 84th Congress, provided that officers appointed between Aug. 31, 1946 and June 4, 1956, who were not paid until ordered to duty, should be paid for the "awaiting orders" period. Those who had been paid and were then required to return the pay, had it refunded. Application must be made, however, before June 4, 1958, when the Act expires. The pay includes allowances.

STATE BONUS

Q. Please print when the West Virginia bonus payments (for Korea service) will begin. Also, can you tell me what the deadline is to file?

A. Payments began Nov. 8, 1957.

Bragg to Close Tempo Housing By September 1

FORT BRAGG, N.C. — Fort Bragg officials are aiming for Sept. 1 as the date when all temporary housing in the Yadkin, Smoke Bomb Hill and Spring Lake areas of the post will be closed out.

The phasing out ties in with the availability of the new Capehart housing units at Bragg, according to Maj. Marie J. Madigan, personal services division chief. As families move out of the temporary units, no new occupants are assigned to the vacated quarters.

Phasing out began at Yadkin Dec. 1, at Smoke Bomb Hill Jan. 1 and at Spring Lake Feb. 7.

Latest information we have reveals that more than 62,976 (88 percent) of the anticipated 71,000 claims were filed by Jan. 1, 1958. June 30, 1959 is the application deadline.

PROPER INSIGNIA

Q. I was a member of a Medical Service Corps outfit and have a medical MOS. Recently I have been assigned to an infantry headquarters. I have been told that I should wear the crossed rifles. How about it?

A. Reference is made to AR 670-5, par. 139h (1) and (5), as follows: "When assigned to headquarters or headquarters companies of divisions or higher units or to TD units, individuals will wear the insignia of the branch which indicates their specific assignment. * * * Personnel assigned to medical units which are organic to TOE units of other branches will wear the Army Medical Service insignia."

DISABILITY PAY

Q. I have just been informed that I will be separated from the Army with a 20 percent disability rating and will be paid a lump-sum disability severance payment. I intend to seek VA disability compensation soon after discharge. Would my severance payment have any effect on VA disability compensation, if VA approves my claim?

A. If VA approves your claim, compensation payments will be withheld by VA until the amount recovered equals the amount of severance you have received. After that, VA will send you your regular VA compensation checks each month.

Copter Crew Chief Flying Own Plane to New Station

FORT RILEY, Kans.—When the flight of Shawnee (H-21) helicopters make their refueling stops enroute from Fort Riley, Kans., to Fort Lewis, Wash., airport operators will probably be a little surprised to find a two-place private airplane accompanying the 57th Helicopter Co.

The white Aeronca Chief, which stands out among the olive drab Shawnees, is the property of Sgt. Kenneth Rosdahl, a crew chief with the 57th. Rosdahl is ferrying his ship to the new station and is taking about the same route as the copters are flying. If the copters don't out-perform the Chief, they will probably be refueling at the same ports but Rosdahl will be picking up the tab for fuel and lubricants for his ship.

ROSDAHL HAS BEEN flying for several years and during that time has earned private, commercial and instrument licenses. When he came to Fort Riley he joined the Junction City Flying Club and for several months took a very active part in that organization. While a member he made several night flights into Texas, Arkansas and Minnesota on short leaves and passes.

When the 57th received orders to Fort Lewis, Rosdahl solved the problem of being without an airplane, which had plagued him several times during his Army career, by purchasing the completely rebuilt Chief at the Junction City Airport.

Fort Lewis airport operators should not become alarmed when their count of in-bound ships from the 57th number 22 instead of 21.

How To Speak And Write Like A College Graduate

"Now like thousands of intelligent men and women who have not had college training in English, you can gain the ability to speak and write like a college graduate without going back to school," says Don Bolander of Career Institute, Chicago.

"The new C.I. Method makes it easy. In only 15 minutes a day at home, you can build up your vocabulary, stop making embarrassing mistakes, improve your writing, discover the 'secrets' of interesting conversation."

According to Bolander, "Once you gain a mastery of English, you'll find yourself able to get ahead faster in your job and social life. You'll gain new poise and confidence plus the respect of those around you."

For those interested, Bolander has made available a free 32-page booklet that tells how you can gain the ability to speak and write like a college graduate, in your own home. Just put your name and address on a card or letter and send to Don Bolander, Dept. AT-38, 25 East Jackson Blvd., Chicago 4, Illinois. The booklet will be mailed promptly with no obligation, of course.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

in the February issue of Army Times on the subject of "double jeopardy."

Mr. Kohan states, "When an NCO or soldier of superior grade has exhibited by crimes such as drunken or reckless driving, that he does not possess the qualities and attributes rightfully expected of a soldier of his grade, he should no longer be permitted to retain such grade."

What about officers, as well as warrant officers, Mr. Kohan? Percentage-wise officers and warrant officers commit just as many such "crimes" yet you have buried in the files of your own office cases where such officers only got a "slap on the wrist"—certainly no reduction in rank.

Let us return to the question of the propriety of trying an NCO or soldier (not officers and warrant officers) by court-martial, or reduction by Article 15, for an offense for which he has already been tried in a civil court, which procedure you favor. Let me cite you a change in policy with respect to this, which you have overlooked and concerning which your superiors have not informed you.

In the case of United States versus PFC Poole, et al, CM 391961, 17 Sep 56, a board of review composed of Lancefield, Garnett, and Ayars, in the office of the Judge Advocate General of the Army, said the following:

"The fact that these accused were first tried by a court of competent jurisdiction did not legally affect the jurisdiction of the court-martial. Paragraph 68d, Manual for Courts-Martial, United States, 1951. However, as a matter of policy the military authorities have consistently refrained from trying an accused for an identical offense where, as here, State jurisdiction has first attached. In such cases, if trial by court-martial is desired, it is the usual practice to request the State authorities to surrender the accused to the military authorities."

In view of the above quoted declared change in military policy, with reference to "double jeopardy," it is obvious that the gentleman from Fort Polk, La., had the correct idea and that you are 100% wrong. Both you and your office are morally bound as members of the military to adhere to the above quoted policy in cases involving "double jeopardy."

ment as a Regular Army warrant officer to be effective upon honorable termination of active duty as a commissioned officer.

On 28 Feb. 1957, I was relieved from AD and reverted to my RA warrant officer status 1 March 1957.

When I was relieved from active duty as a commissioned officer and reverted to warrant officer status I fully expected to receive readjustment pay under Public Law 676, 84th Congress.

However, this was not the case since the Department of the Army announced that commissioned officers serving in a dual status (RA warrant officer) are not entitled to readjustment pay on separation from commissioned status. This announcement was based on Comptroller General opinions that:

"The legislative history of Public Law 676 clearly shows that readjustment pay was authorized as a means of providing some compensation to career reservists in readjusting to civilian life, when their active duty careers are terminated without fault on their part" and "It is clear that a person having any dual status who is relieved from active duty as a reserve officer but continues on active duty in his other military status is not actually separated from active service and is not required to make the transition back to civilian life. It is believed that the Congress did not intend that readjustment pay be paid in such circumstances and that the conclusion is required that members merely changing from one active-duty (officer) status to another active-duty (enlisted or warrant officer) status are not involuntarily released from active duty within the meaning of Public Law 676."

In spite of these opinions, the Army continues to pay readjustment pay to those officers involuntarily released and who enlist in enlisted grade without even one day's break in service. Have they met the requirements any more than we have? I say No!

I maintain that the Army has unfairly penalized and broken faith with those of us who were interested and capable enough to qualify for RA warrant officer appointments. In addition to losing our readjustment pay, we were not paid lump sum payment for accrued leave on transportation which were paid to those officers involuntarily relieved and who enlisted.

Nor Fish Nor Stew Is Specialist Two

FORT BELVOIR, Va.: There is a lot of consideration given to different things that are going on in the service; for instance, the pay raise, RA officers, RA NCOs, and things of that sort.

But it seems to me that the specialists are almost completely forgotten. I am a Specialist 2d class in the same pay grade as a Sergeant, E-5. Yet it is mandatory for SP-2s to stand Saturday morning training with privates, PFCs and corporals. Yet when it comes to performing post duties such as commander of the relief on guard and charge of quarters, we are placed in the NCO category, E-5 and above.

This is happening in the unit I am now in. However, in some parts of the service a SP-2 performs KP duties and other fatigue details.

It appears to me that a SP-2 is just a body that can be placed into any status and made perform duties there. We are being treated this way and we go from day to day not knowing what to expect tomorrow. Most of us feel as though we are dummies that can be placed anywhere and fit there. However, you would think that the service could place us in one status and leave us there so as to maintain a higher morale. . .

Management Is Like This Here

ANCHORAGE, Alaska: I would like to use the facilities of Army Times to reply to Capt. Robert L. Hogan of Fort Bliss who wrote in the 8 February issue of his puzzlement about the Army Command Management System.

I will try by analyzing Hogan's letter by what I consider points therein.

Point One. There is no organization of command management as distinct from the familiar and conventional military structure. As I progress, I think you will understand that statement.

Point Two: This point, I think, is the basis of your confusion and the crux of your problem. You are trying to relate two verbs, i.e., COMMAND and MANAGE. The word 'command' in the phrase, the Army Command Management System, is a noun meaning (1) that which is under control of a military or naval commander, and (2) a force, as of soldiers or ships. Thus, transposing the words, the title becomes: the System of Army Management of (a) Command(s).

Point Three: If you agree that the verb 'command' has no connotation in the title of the system, then the semantics in the remainder of your letter have no application.

I could go into a long dissertation on what the Army Command Management does and will do for a commander, but if you are not working with it an explanation should be simple.

First—it is not an organization, it is a system for managing non-tactical affairs of the Army through the administrative organization of the Army as opposed to those affairs concerned with the direct training for and the execution of combat missions of the operating forces.

It consists basically of five segments: programming, budgeting, accounting, performance analysis, and manpower control. I'm sure you will read into those segments—management of resources.

Perhaps that is over-simplification, but in essence it provides the commander with a tool to manage his resources accurately and within limits. Based on the commander's detailed and justified statement, D/A gives him a check for a certain amount of money to run his command and the Army Command Management System provides him with the means to stay within that limit.

There is nothing new about management in the Army — we've always had it but heretofore it's been on rather a broad basis. The present system is more refined and based on public law.

If you are in a tactical unit at Bliss, you probably won't have much to do with it except furnish certain data to your next higher echelon of command, but if you would like to read some material on it, I would suggest the new AR 1-11 (when published), AR 1-50, AR 11-1, AR 35-300, AR 37-1, FM 101-51, and a pamphlet now in draft form of the Army Command Management System.

I realize that the above is no school solution, but it's a simple explanation of the system and I hope it dissolves some of your confusion.

Letters To Sports Ed

Ord Sports Program Is Poor, He Says

FORT ORD, Calif. — In recent months there have appeared numerous articles in Army Times on why the Army banned the All-Army sports program as well as on the Army's new athletic policy which places more stress on intramural, company, and battalion level competition.

After reading a recent article in Army Times concerning Fort Leonard Wood's new intramural sports program (Jan. 25 edition), it looks as though the men at Wood will be kept busy with a good sports program for the coming season. I wish that the same program prevailed at Fort Ord.

In fact, the reason for writing this letter is that I have had the pleasure (?) of witnessing one of the world's worst athletic programs at Ord.

I have been at Ord nearly six months and have yet to see any action that might indicate a plan to improve the athletic program. Last fall, no football games. And the touch football program was no program. There was no organization, just a group of individuals calling themselves a team. The officials were worse than the teams.

As for basketball, well, I have visited the gym many times at night and couldn't tell who was playing or what groups were practicing. And the officials, dressed in old dirty sweat clothes, seemed to have a very limited knowledge of the game.

And with a post as large as Fort Ord, why don't they have a boxing team and run some bouts?

I hope that this letter might be published. It may open the eyes of staff personnel in headquarters to investigate, instead of playing social visits and coffee calls. The young soldier needs something to do in the evening, instead of sitting in the day room or barracks, or visiting the local bars.

We need new ideas in the sports program at Ord. Let's hear from some of the other posts with a good sports program. It might shame Ord into going to work on the problem.

NAME WITHHELD

(Any comment from sports officials, or others, at Ord? — Sports Editor.)

Bragg Title Game To Be Replayed

FORT BRAGG, N. C. — A formal protest by XVIII Airborne Corps Arty, lodged during the post basketball finals last week, was granted. The game was to be replayed late this week.

The protest came over an error in the scorebook during the final game between Corps Arty and the 325th Inf. When Bob Fiely of Corps Arty was pulled from the game, charged with five fouls, coach Joe Craig claimed that Fiely had only four fouls. The claim was proved to be correct.

The 325th won the protested game 71-66.

Jax Wins, 126-86

FORT JACKSON, S.C. — The Fort Jackson Eagles walloped Fort Stewart, Ga., 126-86, here last week. The win was Jackson's ninth in a row, boasting the team's season record to 13-1.

OPENING NIGHT BOUTS

Campbell Takes Lead In 3d Army Boxing

FORT JACKSON, S. C. — Fort Bragg's Allen Hudson, who was runnerup in the All-Army mitt tourney last year before going on to win the Inter-Service championship, got off to a fine start in the annual Third Army tournament here this week by scoring a TKO over Fort Campbell's Jesse West. Referee Dom Fusci stopped the bout at 2:58 of the second round.

But despite West's defeat, Fort Campbell picked up five of a possible seven points on the opening night of the 26-bout event to take the lead in the race for team championship honors. Campbell won the title last year.

ANOTHER top-ranking Army boxer, Joel (Whip) Wilson, All-Army light-middleweight champ last year, also won but his opponent, Chuck McCreary, Fort Bragg's leading boxer this year, put up a stiff fight. Only last week, in a match between the 101st and 82d Airborne Divisions at Fort Bragg, McCreary won a unanimous decision over Wilson (story next page).

But this time it was Wilson on a unanimous decision.

RASMUS PARREA, Fort Jackson lightweight, displayed excellent footwork and solid punching power while taking a decision over Fort Benning's Joseph Wittington. Parrea slipped in and out under Wittington's punches while digging in to the body.

In other bouts:

Flyweight Erminio Cruz (Campbell) TKO'd Harold Hensley (Jackson) in 1:46, second round.

Bantamweight Charles Taylor (Campbell) won a unanimous decision over L. E. Eley (Benning).

Welterweight James Carter (Campbell) won a split decision over Albert Brooke (Bragg).

Middleweight Gilbert Padilla (Campbell) won a unanimous decision over John Blalock (Bragg).

Light-heavy Theodore Bethea (Benning) won a unanimous decision over Lloyd Myers (Campbell).

In contrast to past Third Army tournaments, there are only 36 fighters competing this year.

(Results of the semi-finals and finals will be in next week's edition of Army Times).

BOASTS SEVEN CHAMPIONS

Fort Hood Wins 4th Army Boxing

By PFC KING McELROY

FORT CHAFFEE, Ark. — With seven fighters winning titles, Fort Hood, Tex., won the Fourth Army boxing championship here last weekend. Hood's crafty light-welterweight Leslie Norris was named the outstanding boxer in the tournament. Norris impressed by out-boxing and outfoxing last year's Fourth Army champ Charles Lancaster of Fort Sill, Okla.

In jackrabbit fashion, Norris outmaneuvered Lancaster by dancing in for a flurry of punches and bouncing away from the Sill boxer's hard right hand. Lancaster played it slow and sure, but time ran out and the decision went to Norris.

Norris gained the finals by a TKO over Joe Chamberlain of Fort Chaffee.

THE FOURTH ARMY boxing champs are:

Flyweight—Fernando Ramirez, Hood.

Bantamweight—Thomas Lutge, Hood.

Featherweight—Clark O'Brien, Fort Polk.

Lightweight—Warren Higa, Hood.

Light-welterweight—Norris, Hood.

Welterweight—R. H. Weston, Hood.

Light-middleweight—Dillard Jackson, Sill.

Middleweight—Connie Stamps, Bliss.

Light-heavyweight—James Wright, Hood.

Heavyweight—Gussie Williams, Hood.

FORT BLISS was runner-up in the tournament and last year's champ, Fort Sill, finished third. Chaffee, Polk, Brooke Army Medical Center, and William Beaumont Army Hospital followed in that order.

Officials were Eddie LaFond, athletic director of Catholic University, Washington, D. C., and Frank Castle, of Fort Smith, Ark.

Ken Hoeck, sports director of Fourth Army, said the best of the fighters in this tournament will be sent to the training camp for outstanding Army boxers at Fort Meade, Md., March 22-April 15. The Army will select its team for the Inter-Service tournament from boxers at the camp.

Si Green Paces Dix to 'Revenge' Wins Over Lee

FORT DIX, N.J. — With Si Green playing in a manner befitting his All-American stature, the Fort Dix Burros won a pair of "revenge" games from Fort Lee last week, lacing the Travellers 69-58 and 61-58. The wins hiked the Dix record to 20 wins against only three defeats. Earlier in the season, Lee handed Dix its first regular season loss in two years, 64-78, at Lee.

On the sidelines with a pulled muscle for nine games, Green returned to duty and displayed the all-around class that gained him national acclaim with Duquesne and the Cincinnati Royals. Si scored 22 points in the first game and also tied up Lee ace Jerry Bynum. Wally Choice added 18 and Al Clinkscales 13 to the Dix attack while Jack Sheehy controlled the boards along with Green. High man for the losers was John Wallisa with 17 points.

In the other game Green scored 13 points but it was his fine ball handling, rebounding and defensive play which sparked the Dix victory. Choice led the Burros with 22 points. Claude Gross had 18 and was a workhorse off the boards. For Lee, Wallisa and Bynum each had 16 points.

Al Ferrari was forced to the bench early in the first game with a recurrence of an old knee injury. He is expected to be back for the First Army tournament which will be held here March 17-21.

BOXING NOTES

Turner Rated Best In 25th Division

SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, T.H.—The 25th Division's only undefeated fighter this year is PFC Dick Turner, Division welterweight champ from the 27th Inf.

Turner was part of the fight game for six years before competing in his first fight. Starting at the tender age of 13, Turner worked out in a West Philadelphia gym with his brother, pro boxer Royal Turner.

The 147-pounder, who stands 5-11 and possesses a powerful straight right, began his own fight career here in the Wolfhound company level tournament at Schofield.

Putting his assortment of experience to use, he went undefeated in that tourney and continued that way the rest of the season, amassing a total of 13-0.

The smiling belter rates PFC Paul Marquez of the 21st Inf. as "the fighter with the most heart I've ever seen," but thinks that PFC Eddie Woods of the Marines gave him his roughest competition.

Turner hopes to go to the States this month to work out with the Army boxing team at Fort Meade, Md., and earn a berth on the Army team for the Inter-Service championships.

82d Pounds 101st, Nine Bouts to One

FORT BRAGG, N.C.—One TKO, a default and four split decisions featured the ten-bout card as the 82d Airborne Division ring squad pounded the 101st Airborne Division mittmen 9-1 at the post boxing arena here last week.

This was the second meeting of the two teams, the Screaming Eagles winning the first one 6-4 earlier in the month. They are tangling again in the Third Army tourney at Fort Jackson, S.C., this week.

Light-middleweight Jim Ellis of the 82d was awarded a third-round TKO over Jim Goodwin of the 101st, when a cut over Goodwin's eye stopped the bout. The cut came when Ellis accidentally butted Goodwin with his head in a clinch in the second.

In the night's best bout, featherweight Dave (Bang Bang) Harris—the 101st only winner—gained a split decision over Jerry Armstrong of the 82d. Harris, 1957 All-Army lightweight champ, connected often on Armstrong, 1957 Third Army bantamweight champ, with a rapid series of lefts and rights to the body. Armstrong's knees buckled once in the third, but he managed to hold on.

Bantamweight George Goodwin of the 82d won a split decision over Charlie Taylor of the 101st. Goodwin half closed southpaw Taylor's right eye late in the first, but Taylor's stiff jabs to Goodwin's mid-section had a telling effect.

In another good bout which found both boxers mixing it up often, welterweight Al Brooks of the 82d won a split decision over Jim Carter of the 101st. A left hook to the body by Brooks in the second hurt Carter but both came on strong in the third for a slugfest that had the crowd roaring.

Lightweight Prentiss McGlory of the 82d won a split decision, booed by the fans, over Harry Campbell of the 101st. McGlory fought from a weird bobbing style, flat-footed and moving around very little, and Campbell could not get his combination working.

Middleweight Chuck McCreary of the 82d won a unanimous decision over Joel (Whip) Wilson of the 101st. Wilson was 1957 Third Army light-middleweight champ. McCreary, a smooth boxer, connected often to Wilson's head and Whip couldn't seem to get started.

Inter-service heavyweight champ Allen Hudson of the 82d won by default when illness kept Jesse West of the 101st from entering the ring.

In other bouts:

Flyweight Tom Rodriguez, 82d, decisioned Erminio Cruz, 101st.

Middleweight John Blalock, 82d, decisioned Gil Padilla, 101st.

Light-heavyweight Bennie Benson, 82d, decisioned Lloyd Myers, 101st.

60th Infantrymen Win Devens Title

FORT DEVENS, Mass.—The 2d Brigade, 60th Inf., easily won the Fort Devens boxing championship recently. The champs boasted six individual winners and wound up with 24 points. Runner-up team was the 1st Brigade, 4th Inf., with 14 points.

The tournament's outstanding boxer award went to PFC Gary Anderson of Hqs. Co., Army Security Agency Training Center, who bounced up from a nine count in the first round to score a TKO over PFC George Ray of Co. A, 20th Engrs. Bn.

In other bouts:

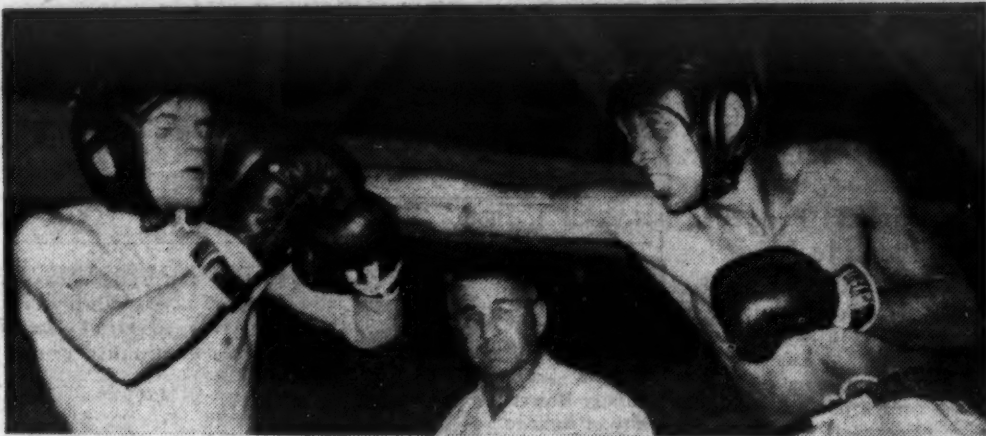

Lightweight SP2 William Wallace, 20th Engrs., decisioned PFC Jack Minor, 1st Brigade, 4th Inf. A right cross sent Minor sprawling to the canvas in the third round.

Last year's light-welter champ, PFC Chaney Williams of the 2d Brigade, lost no time in disposing of Pvt. Theodore Smith, 40th Signal Bn. He won on a TKO in 1:26 of the second round.

Welterweight PFC James Ritch of Co. C, 2d Brigade, 60th Inf., decisioned Pvt. Charles Wright of the 1st Brigade, 4th Inf.

SP3 Ronald Lee of the 1st Brigade took the light-middleweight novice title with a unanimous decision over SP3 John Page of the 20th Engrs.

The open event in this class was

All-Army Champs Meet

The 82d won the other nine bouts. Last year, Armstrong was All-Army bantam champion while Harris was All-Army lightweight champ.

one of the best bouts of the evening as PFC George Wade of the 1st Brigade, 4th Inf., won a close decision over PFC Richard Jackson, 2d Brigade, 60th Inf. Both men drew blood.

In the final bout, PFC Westley Myers of 2d Brigade, 60th Inf., won a split decision over SP3 Robert Glover, 2d Brigade, for the heavyweight title.

Six other open champs, who were unopposed in the finals, were crowned: flyweight SP3 Gabriel Huntanar, 2d Brigade; bantam SFC Roosevelt McKenney, 2d Brigade; lightweight PFC Wendell Douglas of Hqs. Det.; welterweight Cpl. Stanley Junius, 1st Brigade; middleweight PFC Robert Patterson, 2d Brigade; and light-heavy SP3 Calvin McCormick, Brigade Trains.

Army Net Ace Ranked Tenth In the U.S.

FORT RUCKER, Ala. — In a recent shakeup by the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association, PFC Bill Quillian, 1957 All-Army and Inter-Service champion, has been elevated to tenth place among amateur players in the country.

Quillian was ranked only 17th last year.

Bill's meteoric rise makes quite a story. He was assigned to the Aviation Center here about a year ago to go through the Enlisted Students Aviation Mechanics Course. When his potential on the tennis court became apparent, however, Quillian was transferred to Special Services and given the opportunity to show what he could do.

He didn't waste any time.

Making his major debut at the Blue Gray Tournament in Montgomery, Ala., last summer, he breezed through to the finals and a showdown match with Barry MacKay.

Quillian took home the trophy, winning in straight sets: 6-4, 6-4.

The next item of business was the service tournaments. In successive weeks he won the Third Army championship, the All-Army championship, and the All-Service championship.

On March 3, Quillian will be one of nine servicemen receiving a James Daleo Award from the Rockne Club of Kansas City. The award honors Quillian for being the outstanding tennis player in uniform.

PFC BILL QUILLIAN

At the National Clay Court championships in Cincinnati last year, Quillian eliminated Australian net ace Neal Fraser before losing in the quarter finals.

In this year's New Orleans Sugar Bowl Tournament, Quillian upset highly favored Ham Richardson in an early round, and just barely dropped a close semi-final match to Bud Barten. He went on to share in the doubles championship.

Bill started playing the game as a youngster when his father gave him a cut down racquet. He soon began to pick up school boy trophies on the playgrounds of Seattle, and he continued his winning ways as a student at the University of Washington.

Brooke Comets Host 4th Army Cage Tourney

FORT SAM HOUSTON, Tex. — The Brooke Army Medical Comets, pointing for the Fourth Army basketball tournament, which they will host March 10-14, brought their season record to 21-6 with two wins over Air Force teams.

The Comets drubbed Hondo AFB, 89-62, for the second time this season, then ripped Lackland AFB's recently-crowned Southwest Regional Air Force champions, 91-72, to avenge an earlier loss to the tall Warhawks.

The game against Lackland was a revenge affair for coach Johnny Kicklighter's Comets, who had bowed to the Airmen, 74-63, before Christmas. Brooke overcame a Lackland lead late in the first half, as both teams were hot in their shooting. The Comets bulge was 47-33 at the half.

Patzwald led Brooke scoring with 29 points, including 14 field goals, but the two-time Little All-American from Gustavus Adolphus College had to take a back seat for high scoring honors in the game, as Bill Bigby, Lackland's talented pivot man, pumped in 32.

Patzwald got a big hand from Joe Gibbon, who scored 16 points in the half he played. The 6-4, 210-pound Gibbon, who was second leading scorer in the nation last season at Mississippi with a 30 point average, is rounding into fine shape and should help the Comets greatly in the 4th Army tourney.

Leading Brooke's scoring through their 27 games so far is Tom (Lupe) Lopez, former Houston U. captain, who has scored 331 points, for a 13.2 points-per-game average. Patzwald is next with 311 points and Kinard, who played at Colorado A&M, has 301.

JOE GIBBON, former University of Mississippi scoring ace, is now with the Brooke Army Medical Center Comets at Fort Sam Houston. He averaged 30 points per game with Ole Miss last year. He is also a promising southpaw pitcher in the Pittsburgh farm system. With Lincoln in the Western League last year he had a 9-4 record.

Young Top Star as Fort Lee Wins 2d Army Wrestling

FORT BELVOIR, Va. — Led by Lt. Walter Young, SP3 Larry Fornicola and PFC Dan Carey, Fort Lee's highly-rated wrestling team squeezed by Fort Knox, 46-44, to win the Second Army wrestling championship last week for the second straight year.

Belvoir was third with 32 points. Fort Eustis was next with 16 points while Aberdeen Proving Ground had nine and Fort Meade three.

Fort Lee walked off with three trophies — team, perpetual, and most outstanding wrestler, the last one going to Young.

YOUNG, winner in both the freestyle and Greco-Roman welterweight (160½) division of the double elimination tournament, pinned all seven of his opponents. He wrestled a total of 22 minutes and 16 seconds during the five-day tournament.

A graduate of Oklahoma University, Young took the Big Eight Conference title in the 147-pound division in 1955. He placed second in 1954 and 1957.

Fornicola, a former NCAA champion from Penn State, defeated all comers in the lightweight (147½) division and also won a "double crown."

Carey defeated Pvt. Don Milligan of Belvoir, in the freestyle flyweight (114½) division and won the Greco-Roman title by forfeit.

Carey and Milligan were the only wrestlers entered in this division.

Also winning freestyle and Greco-Roman titles were PFC Charles Knepper and Lt. Halcott Turner, both of Knox. Turner wrestled in the light-heavyweight (191) division and Knepper was entered in the bantamweight (125½) division.

RESULTS of the freestyle division:

Flyweight (114½) — Carey (Lee) unan. dec. over Milligan (Belvoir).

Bantamweight (125½) — Knepper (Knox) unan. dec. over PFC John Wandell (Eustis).

Featherweight (136) — PFC Fred Sentner (Knox) pinned SP3 Edward Ashley (Eustis) in 8:15.

Lightweight (147½) — Fornicola (Lee) pinned Lt. Al Mattaliano (Belvoir) in 8:15.

Welterweight (160½) — Young (Lee) pinned Pvt. James Brubaker (Belvoir) in 55 seconds.

Middleweight (174) — Lt. Rodger Judd (Belvoir) split dec. over Lt. Phil Harvey (Aberdeen).

1st Div. Hq. Airlifted in Field Test

FORT RILEY, Kans. — A "Shawnee" H-21 helicopter whirled into position over 1st Inf. Div. field headquarters Feb. 19, hooked cables to the commanding general's headquarters, and airlifted the 700-pound "Operations Pod" to a new position across the Kansas River.

The experiment was staged by aircraft of the 1st Avn. Co. and the 121st Signal Bn. to prove again the mobility of command as well as troops in the Army's pentomic organization.

In a matter of minutes Maj. Gen. David H. Buchanan's command post was saved from a simulated attack on its position at Marshall Air Field by the speedy airlift. An L-19 plane with spools of wire attached to the wings then flew at tree-top level from the command post back across the Kansas River laying wire that immediately re-established communications with elements of the division.

The "Operations Pod" was airlifted off the chassis of a 2½ ton truck which is ordinarily used as Gen. Buchanan's mobile headquarters.

In addition to the aerial demonstration, mobile command posts for intelligence, operations, and the division chief of staff mobile operations centers were on display for a check of interior organization and the location of communication equipment.

Army Men, Machines Fight Eastern U.S. Snowstorms

WASHINGTON—The Army threw its planes, helicopters and ground vehicles into action last week as one of the worst snow storms in years hit the eastern third of the nation.

In hundreds of areas, Army crews rescued stranded farm families, delivered milk and food to the hungry and fodder to isolated cattle. Copters, weasels and trucks brought medicines, fuel and blankets to helpless families. In some areas of Pennsylvania, Maryland and New York, food had to be air dropped.

Heavy equipment was used to clear roads.

First Army Flies

GOVERNORS ISLAND, N. Y.—A severe snowstorm that isolated hundreds of upstate New York families touched off a continuing rescue and relief mission in which Headquarters First Army here coordinated military support with American Red Cross and Civil Defense Agency efforts.

Established at the request of Lt. Gen. B. M. Bryan, commanding general, First Army, an Emergency Operations Center (EOC) here controlled the operations of nine Army helicopters which airlifted many tons of food and fuel and other critically needed supplies to stranded families, as well as forage for cattle consumption.

Eight of the helicopters came from the 93d Helicopter Co. at Fort Devens, Mass.; and the ninth from the 2d AAA Group at Fort Niagara, N. Y.

Controlling the effort of the EOC was Col. K. L. Sipes, chief of the Emergency Operations Center.

The Schenectady General Depot provided two snowplows, 14 angle-dozer tractors and seven road graders. Camp Drum, N. Y., sent a 7½-ton truck-mounted plow and a 10-ton Sno-Go for rescue operations in the Schoharie area, rated as most critical.

Dix Fights Snow

FORT DIX, N. J.—Weary Fort Dix soldiers finally got a breather in a round-the-clock battle against the elements which began when the sky dumped millions of tons of snow on this huge military reservation.

Basic Infantry trainees have returned to their interrupted training after a three-day stint of wielding shovels.

Riley Sends Copters

FORT RILEY, Kans.—Two H-21 (Shawnee) helicopters of the 80th Transportation Co. whirled from Marshall Army Air Field before dawn en route to Northern Indiana, where 55 inches of snow brought normal communications to a standstill.

Maj. Robert D. McClanahan, commanding officer of the unit, said that the two aircraft were to operate under the control of Fifth Army in rescuing isolated ill and injured persons and providing food, fuel and other vital supplies to farm homes and communities.

The governor of Indiana declared a state of emergency in the stricken area, where 44 inches of snow blanketed Michigan City, Ind., and the vicinity earlier, and a second heavy snowfall brought the depth on the ground to 55 inches.

EASCOM's Choice

SEOUL, Korea.—PFC Brian K. Hansen, Wire Operations Company, 304th Sig. Bn., was named Eighth U. S. Army Support Command (EASCOM) soldier of the month for February.

Pilots were Lt. Edward A. Spencer, in command of the flight, and WO W. H. Collins. The copilots were WOs Donald Smith and James Smith. The crew chiefs responsible for the maintenance of the big choppers were SFC Robert M. Mendoza and Clarence Schotts.

28 Rescued

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, Ill.—An Army helicopter was dispatched from the 45th AAA Brigade to the scene of the snow-bound Michigan City, Ind., area to rescue 28 marooned people at their camp site.

The chopper piloted by 1st Lt. Paul R. Whitman and 1st Lt. Gary Meagher made two rescue trips into the snow covered area to bring the boys and several fathers safely out.

The Mayor of East Chicago, Ind., contacted the 45th AAA Brigade and Brig. Gen. Peter Schmick, commanding general of the 45th AAA Brigade, authorized the dispatch of the 21 passenger helicopter to the scene of the rescue.

Mercy Flights Flown

EDGEWOOD, Md.—Several new chapters were added to the adventures of the whirlybird crew here at the Army Chemical Center due to the recent paralyzing snow storm which struck the area.

Members of the crew took the post helicopter on mercy missions which ranged from bringing supplies to evacuating snow-bound persons in need of immediate medical care.

Taking turns at piloting and navigating were CWOs Johnne Greene and Howard Knight. First Lt. Edward Brophy, operations officer of the post's Army air unit, coordinated the many missions and took care of the liaison work. SFC John Hayes served with the crew as flight engineer.

Gen. Harold Wamsley, post commander, and Col. Raymond Firehock, commanding officer of the 17th AAA Group here, accompanied the crew on one of its lifts on which food was delivered to isolated military installations.

PFC JOHN SMITH, crew chief of the helicopter at right, is shown delivering a bag of groceries to a stranded Scranton, Pa., family of five during the recent snowstorm.

OVER THE SNOW to grandma's house — courtesy of an Army helicopter — goes the David Hanon family of Westville, Ind. The family had been stranded by a snowstorm at its farm home, and the Army copter had to lift it to the home of a grandmother about a mile away.

1962 GOAL

British Seek All-Regular Army

LONDON — The British will hold to the line on their reduction of conventional forces to 375,000 by 1962, a British White Paper released last week states. The abandonment of national service (the draft) by that time is still contemplated. The British expect to increase pay and allowance and to improve living accommodations and conditions for troops enough to make that force an all-regular force.

The British forces were reduced by 83,000 during the current year leaving the expected figure about 606,000 by the end of the current financial (fiscal) year. These break down as 99,000 Navy, 325,000 Army and 182,000 RAF.

Russia's sputnik has failed to reverse the British decision to continue reduction of forces. Peace is still being maintained by force of arms, the British say frankly, but point out that the successful launching of satellites by the Russians has not upset the balance of military power between East and West.

In fact, the British say, the overall superiority of the West is liable to increase with introduction of medium range ballistic missiles.

Russia has made great strides in the field of nuclear weapons, the Paper states, but her basic strength is still in the superiority of her conventional forces. The West continues to rely on the nuclear deterrent.

British megaton bombs are being delivered to the RAF and the British strategic bomber force, a "formidable deterrent" coordinates its operations with those of American bomber forces (SAC), the Paper reports.

A ballistic missile of advanced design is being developed by the British for launching.

Bills to Revamp Military Setup Are Introduced

WASHINGTON.—House Armed Services committee leaders have introduced sweeping reorganization legislation which would cut out 14 under secretaries and assistant secretaries in the military establishment. The Defense Department and the three services would be allowed a total of 15 secretaries and assistant secretaries instead of the present 29.

The bills introduced by Reps. Vinson, Kilday and Arends, would limit civilians in the Defense Department to 600. There are now 2400. It will eliminate 1800 jobs and "an unknown number of Ad Hoc committees."

The Joint Chiefs of Staff could delegate administrative duties to their vice chiefs. JCS tours would be limited to three years. Separate service secretaries would be members of the National Security Council and the duties of the present comptroller would be restricted to fiscal matters. The under secretaries of each service would be eliminated and two of the present assistant secretaries in each service would be cut.

On Trial in Japan

SP3 GREGORY J. KUPSKI, 23, leaves court in Yokohama with his Japanese wife, Utako, 21. Kupski is charged with slaying Kazuo Eikawa, 25, wife of a U.S. Navy man now in the States. Kupski pleaded innocent and has denied the charge. U.S. Army officials said last November, after the body was found, he had confessed to the crime, and Japanese prosecutors said he made a similar confession to police.
